Cardinals to Play Slaton Saturday

Tigers Threaten to Get Revenge in Tilt

Threatening revenge against the Cardinals for a 9 to 8 defeat in the last game played by the two teams, the Slaton Tigers will come to Hamlin Saturday night, August 28, for a game with the Hamlin nine, "Runt" McCoy of the Cards, said Tuesday.

In the last game between the teams, McCoy garnered 18 strikeouts to his credit to bring down the batting average of the hard-hitting Slaton gang.

In a letter to the Hamlin team, C. E. McCoy, manager of the Tigers, said "I am going to bring my club back to Hamlin to get revenge for the last time we came down there, and we will beat the daylights out of your ball club."

The Slaton Tigers are leading the Oil Belt League in hitting.

McCoy listed his probable lineup as follows: Gray, 2b, with .289 average at bat; Reiger, 3b, with .379, has 15 doubles and six triples; Weaver, lf, is hitting .378 and has 10 doubles, four triples and three home runs, runs.

Tillery, cf, has an average of .466 with nine home runs, three triples and six doubles; McCoy, c, has an average of .326 with four doubles and two home runs; Banks, 1b, four triples and 14 doubles, average .398; Moyer, ss, .344 average with six triples and 10 doubles; J. Donaldson, three home runs and average of .299.

French will be on the mound for the Tigers, McCoy said. He has a record of striking out 14 batters in 19 innings.

Probable lineup for the Cardinals is: E. Jenkins, c; Runt McCoy, p; Duck Weaver, 1b; Jesse Burditt, 2b; J. Marshall, ss; P. Holland, 3b; Perryman, lf; McKinnon, cf; Ford, lf; Elliott, Cowan and Howard, utility men.

The game will be in City Park field and will begin at 8:15.

Body of Lt. Boyd Will Arrive in U. S. Saturday

The body of Lt. Joe Wesley (Buddy) Boyd will come back to his native land Saturday when the army transport, Lawrence Victory docks in New York City.

Lt. Boyd was killed in action in Europe, November 12, 1944, and his body since that time has been buried in Limey, France.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Boyd of McCaulley, Buddy grew up in Jones and Fisher counties. He lived for a time in Hamlin when he was a young boy.

Born in Stamford, September 1, 1923, Boyd was 19 years of age when he volunteered for service. He had graduated from high school in McCaulley and later attended John Tarleton College at Stephenville, Abilene Christian College and Texas A&M College. He was active in Boy Scout and 4-H club work, and was an active member of General Patton's Third Army. He saw action in Belgium, Luxembourg and Germany.

He attended schools in Hamlin, Roby and Cross Plains, and was graduated from the Cross Plains High School in 1944.

The body of Private Teague will be accompanied here by military escort, and he will be accorded full military rites by the Hamlin VFW Post in the funeral service.

Rev. J. E. Harrell, pastor of the Anson Methodist Church, will conduct funeral rites here, after which the body will be taken to Abilene for burial in Cedar Hill cemetery in the VFW Field of Honor.

Three of the pall bearers for Teague will be former school mates. They are Cecil Goodman and Bobby Rushing of Roby, and LaVerne Kirby of Altus, Okla. Other pall bearers will be selected by the Hamlin VFW Post. Honorary bearers will be Jack Scott, Cross Plains, Bob Freeland, Abilene, and Capt. Albert Mabrey, Roby.

Teague is survived by his parents, four sisters, Mrs. T. A. Taylor and Mrs. J. C. Caudle both of Hamlin, Mrs. E. Y. Thorn, Anson, and Winnie Beth Teague of the home; and by one brother, John Albert of Abilene.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Teague of Hamlin, and Mrs. W. E. McLendon of Eastland is his maternal grandmother.

Plans for building an improved black-topped farm to market road from Boyd's Chapel to the corner of the Tom Jones farm, near Neindia, were made known this week after members of the Chamber of Commerce Road Committee had conferred with S. J. Treadway, district highway engineer.

The road will cost approximately $24,000, it was reported, which is the sum originally set aside for improvement of the highway.

Dissatisfaction was expressed by local business men because the plans do not contemplate completion of the road as far as the Hamlin city lake, which is what had been asked originally in the project.

The cost of improving the road to the lake site would be nearly $50,000. Treadway is reported to have said, and sufficient money for that purpose is not available.

The segment of road planned for improvement is only slightly more than two miles.

Completion of the project will afford residents of the Neindia area an all-weather route to either Anson or Roby, but only a dirt road to Hamlin, it was pointed out.

The body of Lt. Boyd will lie in state in the family home in McCaulley upon its arrival, and final arrangements for the funeral will be announced later, parents of the youth said.

Young Boyd is survived by his parents, a sister, Velma Lu, and a brother, Holman.

With the body of Boyd on the Lawrence Victory will be those of 5,863 other Americans who fell in battle, including 258 others from Texas.

Members of the Brotherhood of the First Baptist Church enjoyed a watermelon feast and outdoor party at the City Park last Thursday evening.

Road Plans Are Made by Rural Group in Meet

Plans for furthering the program of rural roads in the 24th Senatorial District were discussed at a meeting of the district Rural Roads Association in Abilene Tuesday.

The meeting was called by County Judge Roger Garrett of Anson, chairman for the district, and was attended by Starr Inzer of Hamlin, chairman for Jones County.

Representatives agreed to inaugurate a simultaneous membership campaign in each county, beginning Monday, Sept. 6. A membership fee of $1 a year will be charged and the organization is open to anyone who is interested in "bringing Texas out of the mud."

Purpose of the organization is to promote the building of rural roads in the same manner that the Texas Good Roads Association has promoted the building of highways.

Lions Club to Raise Funds for Incubator

Funds for the purchase of an incubator for the Hamlin Memorial Hospital will be raised by the Hamlin Lions Club, it was announced this week by Stanley Carmichael, president.

The club is putting coin receptacles in public places in the city for the collection of coins, which will be used for the purpose of the equipment, Carmichael said.

VETS BUILD OWN SHOP

Vocational Agriculture Classes to Be Housed in New Structure Here

Members of the Hamlin Veterans Agriculture classes of the Jones County Vocational School, have completed construction on a new shop building, located two blocks east of the center of town.

The building was constructed entirely by the class members, except for the framework.

It is of sheet iron and has a concrete floor. The overall dimensions of the building are 25 x 45 feet.

The shop is equipped by the Veterans Administration for the purpose of instructing veterans in farm mechanics and welding.

Equipment includes an electric arc welder, an oxyacetylene welder, a complete set of mechanics and carvers handtools and other items of equipment needed in the extensive course of training.

Funeral for Sidney Teague, Killed in Action, Set for Sunday in Church Here

Final rites for Sidney R. Teague, private first class, who lost his life in Germany March 14, 1945, will be held in the Hamlin Methodist Church Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

The body of Teague, a member of the 304th Regiment of the 76th Infantry Division, will arrive here early Saturday accompanied by a military honor guard.

Teague lived in Hamlin for a short time while a young boy, and had many friends here.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray S. Teague of Abilene, he was born Dec. 6, 1925. He was inducted at Fort Sill, Okla., April 10, 1944. He received his basic training in Camp Hood, Texas. In September, 1944, he was assigned to the 76th Division and transferred to Camp McCoy, Wisconsin for advanced training.

Teague went overseas with his division in November, landing at Southampton, England, Dec. 4, 1944. The division was soon transferred to Belgium and assigned to General Patton's Third Army. He saw action in Belgium, Luxembourg and Germany.

He attended schools in Hamlin, Roby and Cross Plains, and was graduated from the Cross Plains High School in 1944.

Farm to Market Road Planned to Neindia Corner

The road will cost approximately $24,000, it was reported, which is the sum originally set aside for improvement of the highway.

Runoff Ballot in County Election To Be Very Short

A shortened ballot will face Hamlin and Jones County voters in the runoff primary election Saturday.

Most of the races were settled in the first primary, held Saturday, July 24, and only those who failed to obtain clear majorities in the first balloting will have places in Saturday's voting.

On the state ballot will be Coke Stevenson of Kimble County and Lyndon B. Johnson of Johnson County in a race for United States Senator.

Cecil C. Collings of Howard County and Allen D. Dabney of Eastland County are battling it out for Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, 11th District.

Only local races in Jones County will be in commissioner precincts 2 and 4 and justice of the peace precinct 2.

A small vote is predicted in Hamlin because of a lack of local races. However, it is pointed out, some interest has been created by the intensive campaigning of Stevenson and Johnson for the senatorial seat.

She will compete now for the title of Little Miss Arizona in a contest to be conducted in Tucson. The contests were conducted by the Screen Children's Guild of Hollywood.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roe formerly lived in Hamlin, and left here for Winslow in 1944. Roe is a fireman for the Santa Fe railroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin O. Riddle, and son, Billy, of Medford, Oregon, have been guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Bond.

Annual dove hunting season is slated to open in the Jones-Fisher County area Wednesday, September 1, and state game officials have reported that few doves are in the vicinity.

The season will officially open one hour after sunset, and numerous Hamlin people are making arrangements to be on hand at the zero hour.

The bag limit for the season is 10 doves a day, and shooting will not be permitted from roads and lanes. The season will close October 15.

Scarcity of doves in this vicinity is caused by lack of rainfall, game rangers have said. Doves usually go where rainfall is most plentiful for feeding.

There were large numbers of the birds in the region several weeks ago, a game official said, but because of the extreme drought they have gone to areas where rainfall is more abundant.

Haskell County is reported still to have large numbers of doves, but even there they are not as plentiful as they were up until a month ago.

Mendahl Wharton Is Baptist Choir Leader

Mendahl Wharton, who for several months has served as choir leader and educational director for the First Baptist Church of Winters, has been named educational director of the First Baptist Church in Hamlin.

Wharton took over his duties August 20, according to Rev. A. R. Posey, pastor of the church.

A student in Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Mr. Wharton will drive to Hamlin each Friday to spend the week-end here in charge of the church's music and the educational activities. He will return to Fort Worth each Monday for his classes.

Fog Machine to Be Used in City In Polio Fight

Use of a DDT spraying machine in Hamlin to help combat polio was announced Wednesday by Holly Toler, mayor, after the city council had agreed to contract for the service.

Hamlin will have the use of a machine owned by Sweetwater, and which was bought by the Sweetwater Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Cost of the machine's use will be $15 per hour, and this will be paid by the city council.

The fogging will be done either Monday, August 27, or Tuesday, Aug. 28, Toler said.

The council urged housewives and business people to leave doors and windows open when they see the machine in operation, to enable the fog to reach into the houses and business buildings.

The DDT fog is harmless to human beings. It was pointed out, and cannot possibly result in anything more than smarting eyes or tickling in the throat.

The fog will be spread in the streets and alleys in an attempt to kill flies.

It is likely the machine will be used twice before being returned to Sweetwater, officials said.

Euell's Dress Shop Sold to Abilenians

Mrs. Grover C. Carter, who for two years has owned and operated Euell's Dress shop in Hamlin, announced this week that the business has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Thomas of Abilene.

The new owners will take charge of the business Wednesday. Thomas has been in the real estate business in Abilene.

Mrs. Carter plans to go to San Angelo within the next few weeks to make her home, where her daughter, Miss Mary Carter, will be in school.

Rotarians Hear Talk On Two Ideologies

A discussion of the two opposing ideologies in the world today was given by Rev. A. R. Posey, pastor of the First Baptist Church, at the Tuesday noon meeting of the Hamlin Rotary Club.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Bumper Crops Due This Year, May Crack High Cost Living; Spy Probe Confusion Mounts

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

SIDETRACKS . . . Two potential witnesses who were expected to add some information to the Washington Red spy hunt were Mrs. Oksana Stepanova Kosenkina (left) and Alexander Korai. Neither did, however. Mrs. Kosenkina, who taught children of Russian U. N. officials in New York, made headlines by leaping from a third-story window in the Soviet consulate where she allegedly was being held against her will. Korai, billed as a "mystery witness" and accused of being a paid courier for the wartime Communist espionage ring, refused to tell anything he might know on the grounds that he would be incriminating himself.

CROP REPORT:
Momentous

There was momentous news from the nation's farms: In the cards for 1948 was a record-setting corn crop, the second largest wheat crop and substantial increases over last year in oats, barley and rye.

Government estimates, as of August 1, of this year's grain production read like a statistical fantasy of the promised land.

Bureau of agricultural economics reported that a corn crop of 3,506,363,000 bushels is indicated this year, far above 1947's small, weather-plagued crop of 2.4 billion bushels.

An approximate 1,284,322,000 bushels of wheat will be forthcoming this year. Other crop estimates were: Oats, 1,470,444,000 bushels; barley, 313,139,000 bushels, and rye, 26,664,000 bushels.

Trouble grew out of the fact that, although the huge crops are welcome this year, they may set the scene for huge postwar surpluses, mostly of corn and wheat.

Officials contend that there simply aren't enough animals left on the nation's farms to take care of the kind of production being achieved this year, particularly the corn output.

Immediate result of this sudden condition of oversupply probably will be the government's starting to support corn prices as soon as the crop starts moving. Other grain supports are likely to be evoked later.

Grain exports will be pushed, of course, but the export market is almost certain to fall off in a year or so because other nations also are intensifying their farm production with considerable success.

Deflation?

Brighter side of the crop situation is the fact that it promises from the consumer almost certain relief from inflated food prices sooner or later, since grain supplies and prices are basic in determining cost of living at the household level.

Prices of most grains, as a matter of fact, already have broken. Corn was down to $2.02 a bushel work for farm gluts that would be followed by costly subsidies in the form of farm price supports.

Should another year of heavy crop yields follow this one, and should there be a recovery of agriculture abroad, tremendous surpluses in grains would result. Thus, U. S. taxpayers would stand to lose in the cost of price supports a good deal of what they might save in food prices.

CONFUSION: And Spies

America's current top thriller, the Russian spy sensation, had developed more facets than a cylindrical lens in a lighthouse and each one was blinding to the eye of the beholder.

The motley group of persons called to testify before congressional investigating committees was growing and growing. It was getting to the point where even the witnesses had witnesses.

A sensational offshoot of the original spy investigation temporarily stole the spotlight from the main event. This was the battle of the schoolteachers—Mikhail I. Samarin and Mrs. Oksana Stepanova Kosenkina, both U. N. personnel.

The goings on over this pair of Russian pedagogues seemed to be fairly complicated, but they could be boiled down to a sophisticated international game of run sheep run.

Both Samarin and Mrs. Kosenkina had appeared on the scene as potential witnesses in the congressional investigation. Then things started to happen.

First Mrs. Kosenkina disappeared for a few days. According to the official Soviet version, she had been "captured" by a group of anti-Communist White Russians and held prisoner. Then she was "rescued" by loyal U. S. S. R. subjects. A few days later she leaped from a window in the third story of the Soviet consulate in New York where, she said, she had been held captive. Driven to desperation by fear, she was seriously injured when she took the only way out.

On top of all this the other school teacher, Samarin, also disappeared. He, too, was supposed to be in custody of anti-Communist White Russians. However, information leaked out from the Samarin camp: He wanted to testify; he liked the U. S. and revolted against going back to Russia.

ACCIDENTS:
100,000 Deaths

Possibly the most shocking set of statistics compiled year in and year out in the U. S. is that dealing with the nation's accidental death rate.

In 1947, National Safety council has disclosed, about 100,000 persons died accidentally. The full accident toll was approximately 2,000 deaths higher than in 1946.

Accidents in the home accounted for a majority of all the deaths listed by the council. There were 34,500 such fatalities. The total also included 32,300 traffic and 17,000 occupational deaths.

Some of the other facts released in the annual report:

More people died in disasters last year than in 1946—550 in the stupendous Texas City explosion, 167 in a Texas-Oklahoma tornado, 111 in the Centralia, Ill., mine blast, and 198 in airplane crashes.

Despite the optimistic outlook, there is another problem to complicate the picture. This year's great crops could lay the ground-

YOUTH MONTH:Awareness

If the day should ever dawn when every family in the nation becomes fully aware that all juvenile delinquency has its beginning in the home, then U. S. society will have reached its Elysian fields.

Once families become endowed with this awareness they will tend to bring pressure to bear to eliminate the secondary factors that contribute to delinquency in young people: School failure, church failure, bad housing and the inevitable shift in ethical values from one generation to the next which are sometimes confusing and frightening to immature minds.

To that end, and because a healthy store of young minds and bodies is the best overall insurance any nation can have, September has been proclaimed Youth Month. The Theater Owners of America, who feel they have a big stake in the welfare of U. S. youth, have undertaken to organize the principal media of information—newspapers, magazines, radio and motion pictures—to publicize the month.

Aside from the publicity to be accorded the problem of juvenile delinquency, which is the immediate purpose of Youth Month, the observance is more deeply significant in that it provides some evidence that Americans are becoming actively conscious that at least a partial remedy must be found.

Springboard for Youth Month and any other concerted group action that might obtain is a probing and thoughtful report on juvenile delinquency by the National Conference on Prevention and Control of Juvenile Delinquency, Washington, D. C.

A digest of this report, or series of panel reports, covering basic causes and possible solutions of the problem, is well worth a few hours' study on the part of every parent who is aware of his inevitable fallibilities as a guide and leader of his children.

NEW LOW:
Bitterness

While American, British and French ambassadors in Moscow were grimly making peace talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov in the Kremlin, general relations between the East and West were sliding to new depths of mutual recrimination.

This state of affairs was not eased any by unsubstantiated reports that the Moscow talks had degenerated into a deadlock and that no progress was being made.

For the most part, however, the animosity was being spread through raucous propaganda by Berlin newspapers, with the publications sponsored by the Russians and the western powers waging a pitched battle of words.

The British-licensed paper Telegraaf reported that the Soviets were getting ready to move great numbers of new troops into Germany and that Russia was pressing toward "sole rule over all of Berlin."

Soviet propaganda instruments, meantime, renewed their overall attacks on the West, demanding that the Berlin city council be ousted and that the whole city be made part of the Soviet zonal administration.

Regardless of any truth implicit in the Berlin newspaper fight it was obvious that the vindictive battle would do much more harm than good to relations between the two power spheres.

It was equally obvious that there was more bitterness and fear at work in Berlin than there was a rational understanding of how to cope with the crisis.

Headliners

IN LONDON. . . . Mrs. Fannie Blanckers-Koen, stupendous Dutch woman athlete who won four gold medals in Olympic track and field competition, subsided into housewife bliss (above) after her endeavors as she received an unexpected kiss from her husband.

IN OAKLAND, CALIF. . . . Edwin G. Chester dejectedly told a judge that the price of meat was pretty high, pleaded guilty to a charge that he wrestled and killed an 850-pound heifer.

IN CHICAGO. . . . Diane Janakos charged her husband with cruelty in a divorce action, displayed as proof a pocketbook full of hair which she said he had yanked out of her head.

DRAFT:
Questions

This may come as a shock to young future draftees who want the world to know that they are loyal Americans, but just about the only question draft boards will not ask the potential inductee is whether or not he is a Communist and if he is loyal to the U. S.

All the queries in an eight-page questionnaire for draftees deal with the subject's social, economic, physical and marital status

Concentration of Power

THE concentration of economic power in the hands of a few large industries, which control the manufacture, distribution and price of goods destined for the American people, has been brought sharply to the attention of the public consistently during both the 79th and 80th congresses.

Through the President's midyear economic report and the report of the federal trade commission this condition again has been brought into focus. More than 75 per cent of the total output of 121 basic commodities is manufactured by four firms, the report reveals. Says the federal trade commission:

"No great stretch of the imagination is required to foresee that if nothing is done to check the growth of concentration, either the giant corporations will ultimately take over the country or the government will be impelled to step in and impose some form of direct regulation in the public interest."

Three corporations produce 67 per cent of all farm machinery in this country and particularly in the past three years there has been a sharp upward move in mergers and acquisitions in the product of the farm—meat, food and fiber. These mergers, these acquisitions and the subsequent fixing of prices are made at the expense of small business and the consuming public in the home towns of the country.

Monopoly in Agriculture

On that same subject but generally unknown is the fact that the agricultural industry, farms and farmers, is following in the path set by the big monopolies. For a report of the census bureau only recently published by the department of agriculture shows that the farms of the nation are getting larger in size and fewer in number, accounting generally for the fact that there are several thousand less farmers in the nation today than 10 years ago.

"Today," says the report, "over half the farm land in the country is in farms of over 500 acres. Farms over 1,000 acres now account for 40 per cent of the farm land."

Considering the fact that there are 1.1 billion acres in farms, this means there are approximately 460 million acres in farms of over 1,000 acres. This indicates that the owner-operated farm, although still more desirable, is being crowded, and absentee ownership or corporation or partnership ownership is moving in.

The report shows that even in the midwest, where farms generally are smaller, the average farm has increased 30 acres in 25 years. In Oklahoma, where all farms originally were settled on the 160-acre homestead basis unit, the average farm has increased to 225 acres.

The impact of mechanization, economic pressure, and smaller families has played a part in increasing farm sizes and reducing the number. Another factor is that large food distributing corporations have gone into the field of agriculture and land ownership. Also important is the fact that the census shows that were it not that small 5, 10, and 15 acre tracts, which actually are nothing more than rural residences of urban farmers, still are counted as farms, the percentage of large farms to all farms would be still higher.

Family Farm Disappears

The bureau of agricultural economics declares that "the traditional family-sized farm, long the foundation of American agriculture, has been giving way to much larger commercial units."

Here also the agriculture picture coincides with the concentration of production in business and industry for the report says that "from the top third of the farms come 80 per cent of the total production and the top tenth of these farms produce 50 per cent of the total farm production."

At the other end of the scale, the products of 5 per cent, or about 300,000 farms, had an average value of more than $10,000 each. Of these large farms, 25,000 had an output valued at $40,000 each and 5,000 farms had production valued at from $100,000 to $1,000,000 each.

Measured in acres the largest farms are in the West and Far West. But measured in value of production they are concentrated in the Corn Belt.

Regulation Impends

The question which agricultural economists now are asking, just as business economists are asking, is: "How long before the government will be impelled to step in and impose some form of direct regulation in the public interest or in the interest of the 3.9 million little farmers?" If the big monopolies continue to raid the agricultural land market at the expense of the small farm and the public, then it may not be long in coming.

Washington DigestGhost of Latvia Recalls Memories of Better Days

- By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON—At the end of one of those few pleasant summer days which Washington gives us, I was walking homeward from a mission in a part of town which I hadn't visited recently. I found myself in a neighborhood which seemed to produce a slightly nostalgic feeling.

The street took a quick up-turn and, for a short block, was quite steep. Most of the houses were new but there was one with a colored glass window such as graced many a home that I visited as a child. Such windows were usually on the staircase landing, at the turn, and when the sun shone through them it tossed a handful of jewels on the carpet. I always wanted to pick them up. That, I thought as I walked along, is nostalgic childhood memories.

But I was wrong. Soon I realized that the memory which the stained glass window evoked was much more recent. But it did stir ghosts, the ghost of a man and the ghost of a nation, for there is no reason why dead nations, which really never quite died, must not live on in some form.

And Washington is not without such disembodied souvenirs. I had seen the man whose memory the multicolored window had stirred for the first time when he was descending a stairway with just such a window behind him. He was Alfred Bilmanis and he died in July of this year. He was the minister of the republic of Latvia which had "died" eight years ago but according to the state department was and is of such corporeal quality that, along with its sister republics of Lithuania and Estonia, it still possesses diplomatic representatives who are recognized on equal terms with those of living nations.

It was in August of 1940 that the Red army marched into the Baltic states and they became by force majeure, territorially a part of the U. S. S. R. But the three little democracies were prepared politically, if not diplomatically. A month or so earlier, by due process of parliamentary law, a decree was promulgated which made the Latvian minister to London chief of the Latvian state if the Russians took over her territory. Today Charles Zarens, minister to Britain, remains the head of the diplomatic corps of the republic of Latvia.

Bilmanis continued to serve his ghost-government in the United States after the Russian seizure. Up to then he had helped to keep the bonds firm between us and his little country whose people reached the shores of the Baltic back in the early days of European history, along with the only two other remaining groups which are at least linguistically, if not ethnically, related to the Latvians: the Finns and the Magyars.

The last president of the free republic of Latvia, Carl Ulmanis, was American trained. He lived in Nebraska where he waited in exile and worked for his country's independence. He studied agriculture and when he returned to Latvia in that hopeful heyday of Europe's new republics after World War I, he carried back ideas. One of them was the 4-H clubs.

Latvia was 50 per cent agricultural and among its population of only two million, the 4-H movement grew, adapted of course to its new environment, to 40,000 when I heard of it last before the iron curtain descended.

There were interchanges of visits between the countries and, whenever the big 4-H encampment took place in Washington, the little Latvian legation echoed to the cheerful chatter of American children who drank lemonade and heard the expatriate ruddy hands, tell of his country and show pictures of the children there at work on their projects or going through their folk dances in the gay costumes of their land.

The American kids looked at the paintings that covered the walls—for Bilmanis was quite a collector. They were allowed gingerly to try the great chair which Napoleon had taken back to France from Moscow, examine the delightful little ivories, the china and the other objets d'art which filled the legation.

And then, one by one, they tripped up the stairs to look at the life-size model of the Latvian girl in the traditional robes of the country, wearing the symbolic necklace made of great discs of amber. Amber had been a Latvian article of export since the earliest traders from the Mediterranean made their way to this northern land, for it was a much admired ornament for the ladies of ancient Rome and Greece. A good necklace was supposed to be worth an Arabian mount.

If there is any amber being collected on Latvian beaches today it perhaps someday others may realize his dream—some happy day—when freedom in Europe is returned and the ghost republics of the Baltic become real once more for the people who inhabit them.

THE AMERICAN SMILE

Let's Forget It, Now

The 1948 political campaign has grown successively bitter as the weeks have dragged slowly by, and now it is wearing to a furious climax as partisans of each senatorial candidate vie in hurling charges at the opponent of their favorite.

People throughout Texas have taken sides and have indulged in that good old American custom of "playing politics". Many men who have been lifetime friends have become cool to each other and have permitted their zeal for their candidate to dampen their friendship for each other verbal charges and challenges have filled the newspapers and the ether waves.

But Saturday will mark the end of this bitterness and strife. After Saturday those who have been partisans will come to once more become only American citizens—citizens who have exercised their American privilege of taking sides.

And with the coming of Saturday the two candidates who have been the focal point of the maelstrom will retire from the limelight and the final result will then rest with the voters of Texas.

And whether you are a supporter of Coke Stevenson or whether you believe in the platform advocated by Lyndon Johnson, it is your duty as well as privilege to go to the polls and vote. It is a sacred duty which Americans should cherish and exercise—to cast their ballot in every election.

So however you plan to vote, don't let anything keep you from going to your polling place Saturday, and within the narrow limits of the booth, with only your God and your conscience to look on, cast your ballot for the man of your choice.

And when you have done that, like all good Americans you will let the fires of passion that have been kindled by partisan politics cool, and you will accept the choice of the majority.

After we have voted let's forget the bitterness that has been engendered and let's all devote ourselves to the single purpose of creating a better Texas and a better America for ourselves and our posterity.

Why does it take a diplomat so long to learn the facts of life? While official Washington has been stumbling along, holding conferences and sending notes to the Soviet Union the common people of America have known for years that Stalin could not be trusted.

DR. HOUSE RETURNS.
Dr. Will C. House, who has been on vacation for the past two weeks, will return to Hamlin this week and will preach at both services in the First Methodist Church Sunday, members of the congregation have announced.

Hamlin Can Do It

Despite the fact that Hamlin is not a metropolis, and despite the fact that its available civic capital is limited, the people of our town have demonstrated again and again their ability to cooperate and to promote projects that would do credit to cities many times the size of ours.

Hamlin has built a hospital that is equal to any of comparable size in any city; it has acquired a fine football stadium; it has repeatedly put over projects that would stagger towns of far greater population.

And Hamlin can promote and build a community swimming pool that would afford the young people of our city a means for clean, wholesome recreation at home. There is no good reason why Hamlin cannot offer its young people the entertainment for which they now drive many miles.

There is no finer sport than swimming, and there could be no better way for Hamlin to invest some money than in the construction of a modern pool.

The task of raising funds for this purpose would not be too great. If some organization in our town would take the lead The Herald believes it could be done in a short time.

Let's think it over and provide the young men and women of Hamlin the facilities for recreation which have been denied them far too long.

A Heavy Harvest

News stories tell of the post-war crime wave that is sweeping our country, and leaders of churches, schools and government have shown alarm over the situation.

But what else can be expected as an aftermath of an era when young men were nurtured in a lust for blood and when hatred was drilled into the hearts of all of us? Hatred is a virus so deadly that only violence and bloodshed and crime can result from it. The inescapable harvest of the seed of hatred is vice and sin, and at the root of all hatred is incipient murder.

It was truly said many years ago that "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

You are the only indispensable man in all the world! And even you are indispensable to no one but yourself.

THE FICTION CORNER

THE RIFLE

By DANIEL F. LINDSAY

ONLY $30." The clerk smiled down at Jud as he handed him the rifle.

"Uh," Jud hesitated for a moment as his trembling fingers ran along the dull barrel. "I haven't got that much."

"Sorry son." He took it back. Jud's wistful eyes followed him as he sat in the rack and hurried down the counter. Thirty dollars! He had a sick feeling as he stumbled out of the store. Why, he'd never even had his hands on that much money. As he walked down the street he swung the bag of salt from hand to hand. If a rifle cost that much, think how much that house must have cost. Enough to buy all the rifles in the world.

Reaching the edge of town he started up the twisted mountain road. Unconsciously his bare caloused feet avoided the blistering hot rocks. Any other day he would have walked close to the jagged cut formed by the road. Today he didn't care about the cool shade. His mind was still back at the little store. Maybe his Pa would get it anyway. The thought made him half run. As he rounded the curve he could see his mother waiting for him in the doorway.

"You sure made a quick trip Jud. What you so excited about?"

"I got to talk to Pa." He handed her the bag of salt and went inside for a drink of water. She followed him with amused eyes.

"What about son?" He hung the cup back on its hook and shook his head. "Man talk, mom."

"Oh, I see," she ducked her head. "Well, he's out in the upper pasture." He rushed outside again.

"Pa," he shouted as he reached the edge of the tree ringed field. "It's down at the store."

"What's down at the store, son?" His eyes were affectionate as he watched Jud gallop toward him. "The end of the world done up in pink ribbons?"

"No, Pa." His young face was serious as he slid to a stop. "My rifle. The one I want."

"Oh?" Pa looked away uncomfortably. "You sure it's the one you want?" How he had dreaded this day. All winter long they had talked of guns, particularly the one Jud would get some day. Each time they went to the store Jud would rush eagerly over to the shiny gun case, but they never suited him. Gradually it had reached the "maybe, someday" stage. Pa had been glad.

"Sure Pa. I went down for a bag of salt and there it was." His eyes were shining. "You ought to see it."

Dressed your Pa wants to talk to you."

"All right." He hurried into his pants and shirt. At least he would know for sure. His father smiled as he entered.

"Good morning Jud."

"Morning Pa." His eyes searched his father's face for signs.

"Your mom and I talked about the rifle last night, son." Jud just stood there. "And we don't think we can spare the money right now."

"Okay, Pa," his face fell, "$30 is a lot of money."

"But," his father continued, "we did think of a way you could get the rifle if you wanted it bad enough."

"Oh, I do, Pa." His face was one broad smile. "I want it more than anything in the world."

"Enough to sell your sheep?"

JUD pushed open the screen door and walked outside without answering. His mother and father exchanged glances and went on with their breakfast.

Once away from the house, Jud hurried to the little pen. The sheep hobbled over to his side. He slipped one arm around Pete's neck and his mind went back to the day he had crawled down into the ravine in search of him. He stood there a long time while a chain of memories passed over him. Finally he wiped a tear on his shirt sleeve and went back inside the house.

"I want the rifle, Pa." He held his sturdy little body stiff.

"All right son. It's up to you." His father got to his feet and went outside. Jud sat down at the table, swallowing the lump in his throat. His mother filled his plate with pancakes. He didn't even know they were there. Through the screen door he could hear his sheep being loaded into the battered old truck. A rifle was better anyway. When his father tooted the horn he got up solemn faced and kissed his mother.

All the way to town he kept his eyes away from the back of the truck. Just as they came to the slaughter house he could stand it no longer. "Pa," he burst out. "They won't hurt long, will they?"

"No, son," his father's eyes shone kindly. "They'll never know what happened."

"All right." He stared out of the window while his father sold them. When the man took them away he swallowed hard, then shook his head. His father handed him the money and they drove off.

"Want me to come in too, son?" Pa smiled as they came to the store. Jud shook his head and hurried up the rickety steps. Half a minute later he came back out wearing a proud smile.

"Say, Jud, that's some iron." His walls of the old log cabin weren't built for eavesdropping. After a while he heard the sounds of their going to bed and the house was silent. He lay there staring miserably at the ceiling, his mind filled with the deep aching and despair that goes with wanting the unattainable. Finally his tired little brain could stand no more and he fell into a restless sleep.

The early morning sunlight streaming across his face woke him. He started to jump up, then remembered the rifle and sank back. The sounds of hungry animals edged around his consciousness. He could hear Pete, Blackie and Joe, his lame sheep, bleating for him. At least, he shrugged his shoulders. I've got them.

"Son," his mother came in from the kitchen, "As soon as you're father put the box of shells on the seat between them. "Why, it's even better'n mine."

"It sure is a beaut, Pa." He held it upright between his legs all the way home.

All afternoon they could hear the crack of the new rifle echoing down the range. Then toward evening there was a long period of silence. When they called him for supper he pushed open the screen door and shuffled inside. His sigh was heavy. Pa looked up with an understanding smile.

"Regret your bargain, son?"

"No," he shook his head, "but I miss my lame 'uns."

"I know, son. Growing up is tough."

"Yes, Pa." He ran his fingers along the dull barrel. He tried hard not to think about Pete, Blackie and Joe.

"Okay, Pa," his face fell, "$30 is a lot of money."

"But," his father continued, "we did think of a way you could get the rifle if you wanted it bad enough."

Tricks for Teens

by NANCY PEPPER

JIVIN' YOUR JEANS

There's an epidemic of blue jeans parties sweeping through teen-dom. Maybe it's just a reaction to all this "new look" dressing up that's been going on. Even though the new name for a jeans party is a "bums rush," you usually turn up looking pretty elegant—even in jeans. Here are some of the ways you dress them up to the occasion.

SISSY STUFF—One way to feminize your jeans is to cut them off, pedal-pusher length, and edge them with eyelet ruffling. Ditto around the neckline of your tuck-in sweater. No, Elmer—the farmer's daughter never looked like this!

CLIPPED ACCENTS—You'll attract attention (and imitation, too) if you roll up your jeans and hold them in place with clip clothes pins. As a formal touch, paint your clothes pins with red polish and, while it's still moist, sprinkle some sequins on them.

WASP WAISTED—That's how you'll look if you bind your ombré silk scarf, cummerbund fashion around your waistline at the next jeans jamboree. A matching scarf tied around your head please, with long ends hanging gypsy style at one side. Now, all you need is a golden earring—or, maybe, Ray Milland.

GOLD PLATED—For a really new look, gild your jeans with a gold kid belt; wrap fake gold chains around your neck and dive for the oyster in, gold kid belts or sandals. A coat of gilt paint will transform last year's black bladdies, in case you've squandered your allowance on malteds and bubble gum.

Try out any of these tricks at the next bums' rush and the only thing blue about your jeans will be the color—see?

THE HAMLIN HERALD

Kathleen Norris Says:

Peace of Mind Is a Valuable Asset

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

"My mother died when I was eight. My father, a gambler and adventurer, brought me up."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

THE problem of Leona Matson is unusual. That is, it is unusual to find a happy successful, professional woman, a wife and mother, with so serious a burden of compunction and remorse to carry.

This is part of her letter:

"At 20, and until I was 26, I was fortunate enough to be a secretary to an elderly Hollywood writer. My employer wrote scenarios, radio scripts and magazine sketches and acted occasionally in her own plays. Although never in the least famous, she was extremely prosperous. It was part of my job to deposit her checks in the bank. Sometimes one day would bring in several checks of different sizes.

"One morning a large check came in. Annie, to call her that, had told me it would be for $2,000 but it was for more than twice that much. Without calling her attention to it, I placed it face down for her to endorse in blank. She did not turn it over and I deposited it in my account, transferring to hers only the $2,000 she had expected.

"My mother died when I was eight. My father, a gambler and adventurer, brought me up. I always had resented the advantages other girls had and always had felt myself underprivileged.

"Miss Norris suggests that

Leona re-establish her friendship with her ex-employer, who is now in a home for the aged, cultivate her friendship and win her affection with visits and gifts.

Leona can have her ex-boss moved to a quiet hotel where she will have more comfort and conveniences. After Leona has made an honest effort to assist the aged lady, she should make a complete confession and restoration of her past defalcation.

In this manner Leona will regain peace of mind and make full restitution for her shameful sin of the past.

RESTITUTION

Oftentimes when we are young, restless and ambitious we regard a transgression of the law very lightly. We save our conscience with soft talk, hoping that everything eventually will turn out all right. But in most cases it doesn't.

Leona Matson, while in the employment of a Hollywood writer, stole a large sum of money from her employer. She justified the theft by convincing herself that she was only temporarily borrowing the money. Furthermore, she reasoned, if she had asked for a loan she was certain that her employer would have granted it.

Years passed, Leona achieved success financially as well as maritally but she still hadn't restored the stolen money. Now the thought of the theft bothers her and she desires to make restitution without her husband's or her former employer's knowledge.

Miss Norris suggests that Leona re-establish her friendship with her ex-employer, who is now in a home for the aged, cultivate her friendship and win her affection with visits and gifts.

Leona can have her ex-boss moved to a quiet hotel where she will have more comfort and conveniences. After Leona has made an honest effort to assist the aged lady, she should make a complete confession and restoration of her past defalcation.

In this manner Leona will regain peace of mind and make full restitution for her shameful sin of the past.

ing the happy, busy, successful years that are gone forever.

Perhaps you can place her in some quiet hotel where she will feel her pride and independence still preserved. Then some day make a full confession of your old sin. I don't know Annie, but I know her type, and I believe she will be as generous in this as she always has been generous in everything.

In doing this you have the chance for which so many of us long, when years have brought us a better sense of values and of our own personal moral responsibility in the big scheme of things. It doesn't come to everyone, so make the most of it.

If some day Annie is happy with her own pleasant room and bath, a scrap of garden and a little money on which to draw, it will be your privilege to make that happiness complete by telling her honestly that everything you do for her is only interest upon the old and shameful debt.

Annie may have to sacrifice some of her self-pride when she makes the confession to Annie but the inherent glow of righteous satisfaction she will receive as the result of clearing her conscience will more than compensate for her discomfiture.

One of the things we learn with years is that moral law is not constructed by grim-jawed old puritans, merely to annoy and hamper us. Peace of mind is the most valuable thing in the world and obedience to the law when one is young, restless, unsatisfied and ambitious is the only road to peace of mind later on.

More Money Spent During 1948

Americans during 1948 are buying houses and automobiles faster than they can be produced and indebtedness is increasing, according to the Federal Reserve Board's 1948 survey of consumer finances.

Fewer folk are saving in 1948 than the year previous. Some 3 million consumers who had savings bonds in 1947 didn't have them the first of 1948. Consumers are doing more of their paying on a credit basis than a year ago. Because buying has increased, they're using more of their savings than before.

It is expected that about one-fourth of the consumers will spend beyond their income in 1948 as they did in 1947.

"HOME, SWEET HOME" IS MOST DANGEROUS SPOT

It may be "Home, Sweet Home" to the songwriter, but home was the most dangerous place in America last year, according to the 1948 edition of "Accident Facts," statistical yearbook of the National Safety Council.

Home accidents caused 34,500 deaths in 1947. Motor vehicle accidents were a close runner-up, with 32,300 deaths. Public non-motor vehicle and occupational accidents were the next greatest killers last year.

Public Is Urged To Demand Clean Eating Places

Texas State Department of Health cannot maintain daily inspection of all eating places and the public is urged by Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer to insist on the proper sanitation of the establishments where they eat. If the public is careless in this respect the incentive to maintain clean food service will be lessened and operators will maintain only the level the public is willing to accept. He urged that the public patronize eating establishments which measure up to a high standard of cleanliness."

The State Health Department is making every effort to improve sanitation of eating places, Dr. Cox said, and there is "no excuse for cafe owners not taking advantage of the food handlers schools which are being offered all over the state." He added that there are laws, rules and regulations which require the use of approved equipment and methods in such establishments.

"The public should be aware of these sanitary rules and regulations and insist that restaurants observe them. Patrons should realize that tables and counters will be many times cleaner than the kitchen and other places out of sight," he warned.

He urged milk appraisal by the patrons also. Texas law requires that a milk bottle cap state the grade of milk and whether it is raw or pasteurized. "Insist on having the milk served in its regular container, with a covered cap and a legal label," Dr. Cox advised.

"Obviously," he said, "the best in sanitation can be had only by the close cooperation between the public and the investigators of the State Health Department."

States' Righters to Wage Vigorous Fight

States' Rights leader, Palmer Bradley of Houston, veteran of World Wars I and II, said that the presidential ticket of J. Strom Thurmond, Governor of South Carolina and Fielding L. Wright, Governor of Mississippi, had gained such strength that a determined effort will be made to carry Texas' 23 electoral votes for the States' Rights ticket.

"Texans are rallying to the cause of the States' Rights Democrats as a result of Thurmond's challenging address in his presidential acceptance speech at Houston last week," Bradley said.

Food Mart Plans Formal Opening New Store Friday, Saturday; Is Remodeled

Formal opening of the Food Mart, Hamlin's newest business enterprise has been set for Friday and Saturday, August 27 and 28. J. G. Jackson, owner and manager, announced this week.

Jackson, who came here from Lubbock, has had many years experience in food markets. He is a native of Stamford, where he engaged in business before he entered the Army.

A member of the famed 36th Division, Jackson spent almost five years in service and participated in much of the fighting in the European area.

The new grocery and meat market has been completely remodeled and is stocked with fresh, new merchandise. The store embodies the most modern of fixtures and Jackson said he plans to offer the buying public the best in foods, meats and vegetables.

The store is located across the street from the Farmers & Merchants National Bank in the building occupied several months ago by the Red & White Food Store.

A new vegetable case has been installed to keep vegetables fresh and crisp for Hamlin housewives. Jackson also has installed a refrigerated meat case and will feature both fresh and cured meats.

The public is invited to attend the formal opening of the store, and Jackson plans to serve refreshments.

Actual opening of the store took place last Saturday when the doors were thrown open to customers.

Hat Party Is Given for Baptist Junior Girls

Members of the Junoir Girls class of the First Baptist Church were entertained with a hat party in the home of their teacher, Mrs. A. G. Miller, Monday afternoon.

Dabney Answers... Opponent's Charges

Allen D. Dabney

QUALIFICATIONS NEEDED:

1. Knowledge Of The Law
2. Experience In Appellate Practice
3. Wisdom and Mature Judgement

COMPARE!

DABNEY	Opponent
25 Years	NONE
35 Years	7 Years

1.—Actual Court Civil Appeals Practice
2.—Actual law practice experience

Judge Dabney carried his home county of Eastland by a substantial majority, although Judge Gray, the third man in the race, also was living in Eastland and holding court, where he received a nice vote.

My opponent, living in Big Spring, is District Judge of the 70th District Court, which is composed of 5 counties, but only one of these counties is in the 11th Appellate district where he is now seeking office. In other words, 4-5ths of his judicial service is spent in the El Paso Appellate District. Why elect him to the Eastland court when he renders only one-fifth of his service in OUR district?

My opponent is charging there will be two members from Eastland County if I am elected. The fact is that two members now LIVE at Eastland and th third stays there much of the time. In fact, since creation of this court ONLY ONE member lived in Eastland County WHEN ELECTED OR APPOINTED, but almost everyone MOVED THERE after he became a member. When they joined the court one present member was of Brown County, one of Taylor County, and one of Haskell County. The Brown County member is retiring, the Haskell County member lives in Eastland and votes there, but his address is listed as Haskell at late as 1945. (Southwestern Reporter 187-88 2d). The Taylor County member lives in Eastland but votes in Abilene.

My opponent ERRONEOUSLY bases his qualifications to the Civil Appeals Court on the fact that he is a district judge. Chief Justice Hickman of the Texas Supreme Court was not a district judge before being elected to the Eastland court, but was an Active practicing lawyer, (as is Judge Dabney) and as were many others.

New Way to Construct
An Old-Fashioned Swing

DO YOU want to bring back happy moments you've long since forgotten? For fun in the sun or a pleasant place to spend a quiet period of relaxation under the stars, we recommend this modernized version of an old fashioned lawn swing. It's a hit with grownups as well as children. There's room for four in the form fitting seats.

The lawn swing is easy to build. No special tools or skill are required. The full size pattern offered below provides all the information needed to buy the materials, cut and assemble the swing. All materials specified are stock size and are now readily available at most lumber yards.

It's as easy as that! The pattern provides a size printed paper outline of each component part of the swing. Trace each piece on the lumber specified, saw and assemble. Wherever two pieces are joined, their exact location is shown on the pattern. All bolt and screw holes are also shown. You'll have fun building this swing and lots more fun using it.

Send 50¢ for lawn swing pattern No. 155 to East-Bild Pattern Co., Dept. W. Pleasantville, N. Y.

Does the functional "middle-age" period peculiar to women (38-52 yrs.) make you suffer from hot flushes, feel so nervous, high-strung, irritable, weak? Then try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. It's famous for this!

Taken regularly—Pinkham's Compound helps build up resistance against such "middle-age" distress. It's what Doctors call a uterine sedative. It positively contains no opiates—no habit-forming drugs. Pinkham's Compound helps nature (you know what we mean).

It's also a great stomachic tonic!

Rites Sunday in Wichita Falls for Former Resident

Funeral services were conducted Sunday at 4 p.m. in Wichita Falls for W. W. Winfield Lucore, 87, former Hamlin resident, who died in the Wichita Falls General Hospital Friday afternoon.

Lucore made this home in Hamlin for several years, and after he moved from here was a frequent visitor in this city. He was brother-in-law of G. B. Howington and an uncle of Mrs. Frank Tucker and Mrs. W. D. Adair.

Burial of Lucore was made in Abilene in the Masonic cemetery by the side of his wife's grave. Brief graveside services were conducted at 11 o'clock Monday morning.

Guy Hart and Tommy Hart of Lubbock are guests this week of their grandmother, Mrs. Lola Harbert in Hamlin.

Miss Peggy Wainscott has returned to her job in the Waggoner Drug Store after a vacation spent in Dallas, Fort Worth and Waco.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Gardner and son spent the weekend in Sherman as guests of relatives.

About Your Civil Appeals Court

1. Appeals have been made for the "Eastern" end of the District to have representation on the 11th Court of Civil Appeals.

JUDGE CECIL COLLINGS IS FROM HOWARD COUNTY. HE WAS BORN IN ERATH COUNTY. HE PLEDGES TO SERVE ALL THE 11TH JUDICIAL DISTRICT. HE MAKES NO APPEAL TO SECTIONALISM, BELIEVES IT HAS NO BEARING ON THE REAL TEST OF A JUDGE — THAT OF EXPERIENCE AND PROVEN ABILITY.

2. A misleading question has been put to you: "Why have all the Judges from the West?"

OF THREE JUSTICES ON THE COURT NOW, ONE IS FROM EASTLAND COUNTY, ONE FROM BROWN COUNTY, ONE FROM TAYLOR COUNTY. NONE OF THESE IS A "WESTERN" COUNTY. ELECTION OF JUDGE COLLINGS' OPPONENT WOULD MEAN TWO JUSTICES FROM EASTLAND COUNTY ALONE. LOOK AT THE FORMER JUSTICES: JUDGE PANNILL FROM STEPHENVILLE, JUDGE RIDGELL FROM BRECKENRIDGE, JUDGE HICKMAN FROM BRECKENRIDGE AND DUBLIN, JUDGE LITTERER FROM BIG SPRING, JUDGE LESLIE FROM COLORADO CITY, JUDGE FUNDERBURK FROM EASTLAND. OUT OF NINE PRESENT AND FORMER JUSTICES, ONLY TWO HAVE BEEN FROM A "WESTERN" COUNTY.

CECIL COLLINGS

Is the ONLY JUDGE in the 11th Civil Appeals Court race. He has served with distinction for 10 years as a District Judge. He asks your vote on August 28 on the basis of his ability to serve ALL the 11th Supreme Judicial District.

COMPARE THE VALUE

Yes, compare the features — compare the prices — compare what you get for what you pay — and you, too, will come to the conclusion that Chevrolet continues to be first in value, just as it continues to be first in Big-Car Quality at Lowest Cost, and just as it continues first in demand, year after year!

COMPARE THE POPULARITY

You can identify the biggest value in any list of products by picking out the one product which enjoys greatest popularity, year after year; and, of course, in the field of motor cars, that one product is Chevrolet — outstanding leader in popularity for the total 17-year period, 1931 to date!

COMPARE THE FEATURES

Only Chevrolet combines the Unitized Knee-Action Ride for gliding smoothness; the world's champion Valve-in-Head engine for performance and economy; Body by Fisher for tasteful beauty; and Fisher Unisteel Construction plus Positive-Action Hydraulic Brakes for all-round safety protection!

At the Word of Command

Lesson for August 29, 1948

DO PEOPLE always do what they know is right? You would think so; but they don't. It is strange how many excuses people can think up to get out of doing what they know in their hearts they ought to do.

But not this man Ananias. He was a shining exception. There are three Ananias in the New Testament, and this one makes up for the other two. One of the others was a rascally priest and one was a famous liar; but this Ananias, another of the "unheralded" characters from the Bible, is famed for going when God said, "Go." We know nothing much else about him, but this is enough.

No Wonder He Hesitated

IT WAS just after the conversion of Saul. At the time of our story, nobody had ever heard of Paul, only of Saul as he was then called; and nobody heard anything good. He was a bitter, ruthless man. He had no use for Christians. Execution was his only answer to the Christian challenge. The name of Saul brought terror.

On this day of our story Saul had been only three days a Christian. He had had nothing to eat all that time, and he was said to be blind. You may be sure that Christians stayed away from him. His Jerusalem cronies had no doubt given him up as crazy; but no Christian would go near him either. At this point our Ananias had a vision:

The Lord told him to go to Saul and lay his hands on him in help and blessing. Naturally Ananias held back. This was a dangerous man, said he. But again the Lord in the vision said, "Go," and Ananias went.

Suppose Ananias had said "No"? That might have changed the whole course of Christian history. How? He could have thought of many an excuse. "Aren't there other men who can baptize Saul as well as I can?" This whole vision may be only a mistake . . ." And so forth. But not when it became clear to him that this was God's will, Ananias went, though he still did not like it.

How is it with you? When you know what you ought to do, what is the first thing you think of? How to do it, or how to get out of doing it?

Taking Orders From God

HOW CAN we tell when it is really God who commands us? Most Christians today are suspicious of visions, and well we may be. Too many crazy things have been done by people who saw "visions" for us to trust such experiences very far.

One way in which God's orders come to us is in the Word of God, particularly in the words of Christ. For example, take one of the hardest things Jesus ever said: "LOVE YOUR ENEMIES AND PRAY FOR THOSE WHO PERSECUTE YOU." That sounds tough. It is tough. But it is a command. Yet don't most of us leave that command in the closed Bible and act as if the words had never been said?

That brings up another question. Is it likely that Ananias became fond of Saul all at once? Hardly. Ananias could not have liked the man; there was then nothing about him to like. We know from Paul's own words that people generally were not attracted by his looks. Yet Ananias, who could not have liked Saul, much less been fond of him, went and called him "Brother" and gave him his start in the Christian life.

Do You Know a Saul?

NOT FAR from where you are sitting at this moment there may be someone like Saul. He is a Christian, but a new and (so far) poor one, maybe. Someone nobody believes in, someone you scarcely know. It may be a child out of some low-grade home; it may be an ex-drunkard (not so long over it) or an ex-convict even; perhaps someone who has actually done you a wrong.

But this person may be just where Saul was, needing a friend. God may already have touched his heart, all he needs now is the human touch of a Christian friend. Maybe you can't love him, can't even like him; but if he is a human soul God loves him. If you can help him, then you are his Ananias. You know what you ought to do. Will you do it?

Simple Enough for Youngsters to Make

For Amateurs Only

ARE YOUR CHILDREN shy and awkward in the kitchen or can they don an apron and turn in a creditable performance as a cook?

Mothers who give their children the run of the kitchen occasionally deserve a bouquet of orchids because they are helping to turn out well balanced, healthy children. And it does mother good, too, if son or daughter occasionally can whip up a batch of good cookies or cake, or prepare a tasty salad.

There are days when youngsters just simply are bored with their usual pursuits and then they tend to wander around the house without anything to do. Perhaps it's too stormy to play outside or maybe all their friends are on vacation. This is the psychological moment to suggest they try their hand at being an amateur chef.

Give them a few pointers before-hand if they need it so food will not be wasted, and help only if it's requested once they start their culinary adventure so you won't spoil it by being the "extra cook in the broth." Have it understood, too, that the kitchen is to be cleaned after they finish.

I'VE OFTEN SAID that anyone who can read, can cook. But here are simple recipes that involve no complicated procedures. Let the children try these recipes so especially designed for them that they will really have a wonderful adventure on their day in the kitchen.

Boys and girls alike will enjoy making these hamburgers, and they are so easy, you simply won't have any failures:

*Hamburgers De Luxe (Serves 6)

1 pound ground beef

2 eggs, unbeaten

1 tablespoon flour

½ onion, grated

1 teaspoon salt

½ cup catsup

Bacon

Fried onions

Mix the meat with eggs, flour, onion, salt and catsup. Beat the mixture thoroughly with a large fork or spoon. The longer the mixture is beaten the better. Form into thin cakes. Spread a layer of fried onions between two cakes and press the edges of the meat together. Place a strip of bacon around the hamburger, fasten with a toothpick and fry in hot fat or place in the broiler. Using broiler allows cakes to brown six to eight minutes on each side. If frying, allow a little more time for hamburgers to cook.

• • •

BOYS AND GIRLS alike will enjoy making a salad and tossing it together with a fork and spoon the way real chefs do:

*Tossed Green Salad (Serves 6)

1 head of lettuce, cut in quarters

4 tomatoes, quartered

1 bunch watercress, if desired

1 cucumber, peeled and diced

1 bunch green onions, cleaned

1 green pepper, sliced thin

1 bunch celery, diced

1 bunch radishes, sliced

Lettuce cups

French dressing

Chill the vegetables thoroughly after preparing. Place all in a large bowl. Add French dressing and toss.

• • •

Drop Cookies

1 cup brown sugar

½ cup white sugar

½ cup lard, melted

1 teaspoon nutmeg

1 teaspoon cinnamon

½ teaspoon cloves

1 teaspoon soda in 1 tablespoon hot water

½ cup raisins

½ cup nuts

3 cups flour or enough to hold shape when dropped

Combine ingredients in order given. Drop by teaspoonsful on greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 10 to 15 minutes.

Most dishes are easy to wash after they have been soaked. Have a pan of suds ready so that dishes, cups, measuring spoons and other utensils can be placed in the water to soak as soon as you finish using them.

Paper toweling should be used to wipe greasy pots and pans before washing so that grease does not accumulate in the drain pipe.

Never let silverware which has egg on it stand without rinsing. Egg tarnishes silverware.

Cardinals to Play Slaton Saturday

Tigers Threaten to Get Revenge in Tilt

Threatening revenge against the Cardinals for a 9 to 8 defeat in the last game played by the two teams, the Slaton Tigers will come to Hamlin Saturday night, August 28, for a game with the Hamlin nine, "Runt" McCoy of the Cards, said Tuesday.

In the last game between the teams, McCoy garnered 18 strikes to his credit to bring down the batting average of the hard-hitting Slaton gang.

In a letter to the Hamlin team, C. E. McCoy, manager of the Tigers, said "I am going to bring my club back to Hamlin to get revenge for the last time we came down there, and we will beat the daylights out of your ball club."

The Slaton Tigers are leading the Oil Belt League in hitting.

McCoy listed his probable lineup as follows: Gray, 2b, with .289 average at bat; Reiger, 3b, with .379, has 15 doubles and six triples; Weaver, lf, is hitting .378 and has 10 doubles, four triples and three home runs.

Tillery, cf, has an average of .466 with nine home runs, three triples and six doubles; McCauley, c, has an average of .326 with four doubles and two home runs; Banks, 1b, four triples and 14 doubles, average .393; Moyer, ss, .344, average with six triples and 10 doubles; J. Donaldson, three home runs and average of .299.

French will be on the mound for the Tigers, McCoy said. He has a record of striking out 14 batters in 19 innings.

Probable lineup for the Cardinals is: E. Jenkins, c; Runt McCoy, p; Duck Weaver, 1b; Jesse Burditt, 2b; J. Marshall, ss; P. Holland, 3b; Perryman, lf; McKinnon, cf; Ford, rf; Elliott, Cowan and Howard, utility men.

The game will be in City Park field and will begin at 8:15.

Body of Lt. Boyd Will Arrive in U. S. Saturday

The body of Lt. Joe Wesley (Buddy) Boyd will come back to his native land Saturday when the army transport, Lawrence Victory docks in New York City.

Lt. Boyd was killed in action in Europe, November 12, 1944, and his body since that time has been buried in Limey, France.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Boyd of McCauley, Buddy grew up in Jones and Fisher counties. He lived for a time in Hamlin when he was a young boy.

Born in Stamford, September 1, 1923, Boyd was 19 years of age when he volunteered for service. He had graduated from high school in McCauley and later attended John Tarleton College at Stephenville, Abilene Christian College and Texas A&M College. He was active in Boy Scout and 4-H Club work, and was an active member of the Church of Christ.

After he volunteered for service, Boyd was sent to Camp Wolters at Mineral Wells. Later he was sent to officer training school at Fort Benning, Georgia, and was commissioned a second lieutenant in April, 1943.

He was then transferred to Camp Roberts, Calif., and later sent to Camp Granite, Arizona, where he joined the 90th Division, 357th Inf. Co. E. In December 1943 he was transferred to Ft. Dix, New Jersey, where he was promoted to first lieutenant.

Boyd took part in the Normandy invasion on D Day, June 6, 1944. He was in combat for 157 days with Patton's Third Army and was killed instantly in the battle of Koeingsmacker, November 12, 1944.

The body of Lt. Boyd will lie in state in the family home in McCauley upon its arrival, and final arrangements for the funeral will be announced later, parents of the youth said.

Young Boyd is survived by his parents, a sister, Velma Lu, and a brother, Holman.

With the body of Boyd or the Lawrence Victory will be those of 5,863 other Americans who fell in battle, including 258 others from Texas.

Members of the Brotherhood of the First Baptist Church enjoyed a watermelon feast and outdoor party at the City Park last Thursday evening.

Road Plans Are Made by Rural Group in Meet

Plans for furthering the program of rural roads in the 24th Senatorial District were discussed at a meeting of the district rural roads association in Abilene Tuesday.

The meeting was called by County Judge Roger Garrett of Anson, chairman for the district, and was attended by Starr Inzer of Hamlin, chairman for Jones County.

Representatives agreed to inaugurate a simultaneous membership campaign in each county, beginning Monday, Sept. 6. A membership fee of $1 a year will be charged and the organization is open to anyone who is interested in "bringing Texas out of the mud."

Purpose of the organization is to promote the building of rural roads in the same manner that the Texas Good Roads Association has promoted the building of highways.

Lions Club to Raise Funds for Incubator

Funds for the purchase of an incubator for the Hamlin Memorial Hospital will be raised by the Hamlin Lions Club, it was announced this week by Stanley Carmichael, president.

The club is putting coin receptacles in public places in the city for the collection of coins, which will be used for the purpose of the equipment, Carmichael said.

VETS BUILD OWN SHOP

Vocational Agriculture Classes to Be Housed in New Structure Here

Members of the Hamlin Veterans Agriculture classes of the Jones County Vocational School have completed construction on a new shop building, located two blocks east of the center of town.

The building was constructed entirely by the class members, except for the framework.

It is of sheet iron and has a concrete floor. The overall dimensions of the building are 25 x 45 feet.

The shop is equipped by the Veterans Administration for the purpose of instructing veterans in farm mechanics and welding.

Equipment includes an electric arc welder, an oxyacetylene welder, motor mechanics, machinery repair, and basic carpentry and electric wiring.

Plans are being made for the erection of another building on the same lot for classroom instruction.

William M. Moore of Anson is agricultural instructor. Moore was employed by the United States Department of Agriculture as an entomologist before he entered the Army in 1942. He has been instructor of the agriculture class since August 1, 1947, when he succeeded W. G. Pritchett, who is now vocational agriculture instructor in the Stamford High School.

Members of the Hamlin classes, as well as classes in Stamford and Anson.

Instruction includes electric arc welding, oxyacetylene welding, motor mechanics, machinery repair, and basic carpentry and electric wiring.

Plans are being made for the erection of another building on the same lot for classroom instruction.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin O. Riddle and son, Billy, of Medford, reOgan, have been guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Bond.

Annual dove hunting season is slated to open in the Jones-Fisher County area Wednesday, September 1, and state game officials have reported that few doves are in the vicinity.

The season will officially open one hour after sunup, and numerous Hamlin people are making arrangements to be on hand at the zero hour.

The bag limit for the season is 10 doves a day, and shooting will not be permitted from roads and lanes. The season will close October 15.

DOVE HUNTING SEASON OPENS SEPT. 1; FEW DOVES SEEN IN HAMLIN AREA

Scarcity of doves in this vicinity is caused by lack of rainfall, game rangers have said. Doves usually go where rainfall is most plentiful for feeding.

There were large numbers of the birds in the region several weeks ago, a game official said, but because of the extreme drought they have gone to areas where rainfall is more abundant.

Haskell County is reported still to have large numbers of doves, but even there they are not as plentiful as they were up until a month ago.

Mendahl Wharton Is Baptist Choir Leader

Mendahl Wharton, who for several months has served as choir leader and educational director for the First Baptist Church of Winters, has been named educational director of the First Baptist Church in Hamlin.

Wharton took over his duties August 20, according to Rev. A. R. Posey, pastor of the church.

A student in Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Mr. Wharton will drive to Hamlin each Friday to spend the week-end here in charge of the church's music and the educational activities. He will return to Fort Worth each Monday for his classes.

SIDNEY R. TEAGUE

escort, and he will be accorded full military rites by the Hamlin VFW Post in the funeral service.

Rev. J. E. Harrel, pastor of the Anson Methodist Church, will conduct funeral rites here, after which the body will be taken to Abilene for burial in Cedar Hill cemetery in the VFW Field of Honor.

Three of the pall bearers for Teague will be former school mates.

They are Cecil Goodman and Bobby Rushing of Rotan, and LaVerne Kirby of Altus, Okla. Other pall bearers will be selected by the Hamlin VFW Post. Honorary bearers will be Jack Scott, Cross Plains, Bob Freeland, Abilene, and Capt. Albert Maberry, Roby.

Teague is survived by his parents, four sisters, Mrs. T. A. Taylor and Mrs. J. C. Caudle both of Hamlin, Mrs. Ray Thorn, Anson, and Winnie Beth Teague of the home; and by one brother, John Albert of Abilene.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Teague of Hamlin, and Mrs. W. E. McLendon of Eastland is his maternal grandmother.

Runoff Ballot in County Election To Be Very Short

A shortened ballot will face Hamlin and Jones County voters in the runoff primary election Saturday.

Most of the races were settled in the first primary held Saturday, July 24, and only those who failed to obtain clear majorities in the first balloting will have places in Saturday's voting.

On the state ballot will be Coke Stevenson of Kimble County and Lyndon B. Johnson of Johnson County in a race for United States Senator.

Cecil C. Collings of Howard County and Allen D. Dabney of Eastland County are battling it out for Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, 11th District.

Only local races in Jones County will be in commissioner precincts 2 and 4 and justice of the peace precinct 2.

A small vote is predicted in Hamlin because of a lack of local races. However, it is pointed out, some interest has been created by the intensive campaigning of Stevenson and Johnson for the senatorial seat.

She will compete now for the title of Little Miss Arizona in a contest to be conducted in Tucson. The contests were conducted by the Screen Children's Guild of Holywood.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roe formerly lived in Hamlin, and left here for Winslow in 1944. Roe is a fireman for the Santa Fe railroad.

Mrs. W. T. McGuire has been in Waco since last Friday where she was called by the serious illness of her mother Mrs. Case. She became ill while visiting another daughter in Italy. McGuire went to Waco Monday to visit his mother-in-law and wife, and reported that Mrs. Case's condition is improving. Mrs. Case has been making her home in Hamlin with her son-in-law and daughter.

Rotarians Hear Talk On Two Ideologies

A discussion of the two opposing ideologies in the world today was given by Rev. A. R. Posey, pastor of the First Baptist Church, at the Tuesday noon meeting of the Hamlin Rotary Club.

Rev. Posey contrasted the Russian and American ideas on politics, education, social life and religion and said the danger to our way of life is not so much from the foreignisms as from American complacency.

"When the people of a country begin to forget God," he declared, "it is an indication that they have deserted the concept of God for their own selfish ideas."

Board Not Ready As D-Day Nears

Lack of Supplies is Handicap in Draft organizations, civic leaders and the post master.

He said a voluntary sub-draft board will be set up in Hamlin, Stamford, Lueders, Nodale and Hawley but county headquarters will be maintained in Austin.

All persons eligible for registration who were born in 1922 after August 30, will register Monday.

Persons born in 1923 will register August 31 and Sept. 1. Those born in 1924 will register Sept. 2 and 3; those born in 1925 will register Sept. 4 and 7.

Place for registration in Hamlin will be announced as soon as final arrangements can be made and selection of a committee to handle the details has been made. Further information will be available Monday at the post office or the Hamlin Chamber of Commerce.

At McCauley in Fisher County, registrants will report to the post office for filling in of the information on their questionnaires. At Roby and Robian registrants will report to the city halls, and at Sylvestre they will register at the post office.

Joe McComb, member of the Fisher County draft board, said the organization in that county is almost complete.

Celotex to Get Water From City In New Pipeline

Plans for construction of a water pipeline from Hamlin's pump station to Celotex have been completed, and work is slated to get underway as soon as pipe can be obtained, Ted Armstrong, work superintendent for the Celotex company, announced Tuesday.

The line will be of 4-inch pipe, Armstrong said, and will be laid for a distance of approximately five miles. Right of way has already been obtained in easements from property owners along the projected line.

A contract was entered into in April between officials of the Celotex company and the City of Hamlin providing for the use of city water for the manufacturing concern. The contract provides that the city may discontinue service at any time if water in the city lake becomes dangerously low. An order was placed at that time for the pipe, Armstrong said, and he expects delivery within 30 days.

A lake constructed by the Celotex Corporation is rapidly going dry, Armstrong said, and the plant is being forced to use water from four wells that have not been in operation in recent months.

The water sold to Celotex will not be treated or purified by the city of Hamlin, but will be sold "raw" to the firm.

Armstrong said that unless water is obtained by his company it will be necessary to close down operations, which would put about 180 people out of jobs.

Registration for School Will Begin Sept. 7; Class Work to Start Sept. 9

Registration of high school students in the Hamlin school system for the 1948-49 term of school will begin Tuesday, Sept. 7, 1.R. Hutchinson, superintendent, said this week.

No bus service will be run Wednesday, and high school students who are unable to come into town for registration then will be given an opportunity to register Thursday.

Nine buses will be operated by the Hamlin school system this year, Hutchinson said, and routes are being worked out to afford maximum service to all students.

A statement of bus schedules will be published in The Hamlin Herald next week, when routes will be explained.

The school system this year will be composed of 34 white teachers and 4 colored. A heavy increase in scholastic enrollment will necessitate three sections for most classes.

Hutchinson said all students who attended school elsewhere last year are urged to write the school last attended for transcript of credits to be mailed to the principal here.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Bumper Crops Due This Year, May Crack High Cost Living; Spy Probe Confusion Mounts

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

SIDETRACKS . . . Two potential witnesses who were expected to add some information to the Washington Red spy hunt were Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina (left) and Alexander Koral. Neither did, however. Mrs. Kosenkina, who taught children of Russian U. N. officials in New York, made headlines by leaping from a third-story window in the Soviet consulate where she allegedly was being held against her will. Koral, billed as a "mystery witness" and accused of being a paid courier for the wartime Communist espionage ring, refused to tell anything he might know on the grounds that he would be incriminating himself.

CROP REPORT:Momentous

There was momentous news from the nation's farms: In the cards for 1948 was a record-setting corn crop, the second largest wheat crop and substantial increases over last year in oats, barley and rye.

Government estimates, as of August 1, of this year's grain production read like a statistical fantasy of the promised land.

Bureau of agricultural economics reported that a corn crop of 3,506,363,000 bushels is indicated this year, far above 1947's small, weather-plagued crop of 2.4 billion bushels.

An approximate 1,284,322,000 bushels of wheat will be forthcoming this year. Other crop estimates were: Oats, 1,470,444,000 bushels; barley, 313,139,000 bushels, and rye, 26,864,000 bushels.

Trouble grew out of the fact that, although the huge crops are welcome this year, they may set the scene for huge postwar surpluses, mostly of corn and wheat.

Officials contend that there simply aren't enough animals left on the nation's farms to take care of the kind of production being achieved this year, particularly the corn output.

Immediate result of this sudden condition of oversupply probably will be the government's starting to support corn prices as soon as the crop starts moving. Other grain supports are likely to be evoked later.

Grain exports will be pushed, of course, but the export market is almost certain to fall off in a year or so because other nations also are intensifying their farm production with considerable success.

Deflation?

Brighter side of the crop situation is the fact that it promises the consumer almost certain relief from inflated food prices sooner or later, since grain supplies and prices are basic in determining cost of living at the household level.

Prices of most grains, as a matter of fact, already have broken. Corn was down to $2.02 a bushel work for farm gluts that would be followed by costly subsidies in the form of farm price supports.

Should another year of heavy crop yields follow this one, and should there be a recovery of agriculture abroad, tremendous surpluses in grains would result. Thus, U. S. taxpayers would stand to lose in the cost of price supports a good deal of what they might save in food prices.

CONFUSION: And Spies

America's current top thriller, the Russian spy sensation, had developed more facets than a cylindrical lens in a lighthouse and each one was blinding to the eye of the beholder.

The motley group of persons called to testify before congressional investigating committees was growing and growing. It was getting to the point where even the witnesses had witnesses.

A sensational offshoot of the original spy investigation temporarily stole the spotlight from the main event. This was the battle of the schoolteachers—Mikhail I. Samarin and Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, both U. N. personnel.

The goings on over this pair of Russian pedagogues seemed to be fairly complicated, but they could be boiled down to a sophisticated international game of run-sleep-hunt.

Both Samarin and Mrs. Kosenkina had appeared on the scene as potential witnesses in the congressional investigation. Then things started to happen.

First Mrs. Kosenkina disappeared for a few days. According to the official Soviet version, she had been "captured" by a group of anti-Communist White Russians and held prisoner. Then she was "rescued" by loyal U. S. S. R. subjects. A few days later she leaped from a window in the third story of the Soviet consulate in New York where, she said, she had been held captive. Driven to desperation by fear, she was seriously injured when she took the only way out.

On top of all this the other school teacher, Samarin, also disappeared. He, too, was supposed to be in custody of anti-Communist White Russians. However, information leaked out from the Samarin camp: He wanted to testify; he liked the U. S. and revolted against going back to Russia.

ACCIDENTS:100,000 Deaths

Possibly the most shocking set of statistics compiled year in and year out in the U. S. is that dealing with the nation's accidental death rate. In 1947, National Safety Council has disclosed, about 100,000 persons died accidentally. The full accident toll was approximately 2,000 deaths higher than in 1946.

Accidents in the home accounted for a majority of all the deaths listed by the council. There were 34,500 such fatalities. The total also included 32,300 traffic and 17,000 occupational deaths.

Some of the other facts released in the annual report:

More people died in disasters last year than in 1946—550 in the stupendous Texas City explosion, 167 in a Texas-Oklahoma tornado, 111 in the Centralia, Ill., mine blast, and 196 in airplane crashes.

Total of 20,900 deaths resulted from rural traffic accidents, while city traffic accidents accounted for 11,400 fatalities.

211.9 BILLIONU. S. Personal Income Still on Elevator

Everybody works. Everybody makes money. That is the theme song of the American people who are, nevertheless, twisting and turning in the clutches of an intolerable condition of inflation.

But the money keeps on rolling in. Personal income hit a historic high rate of 211.9 billion dollars in June, the commerce department has reported. That figure is 2.5

YOUTH MONTH: Awareness

If the day should ever dawn when every family in the nation becomes fully aware that all juvenile delinquency has its beginning in the home, then U. S. society will have reached its Elysian fields.

Once families become endowed with this awareness they will tend to bring pressure to bear to eliminate the secondary factors that contribute to delinquency in young people: School failure, church failure, bad housing and the inevitable shift in ethical values from one generation to the next which are sometimes confusing and frightening to immature minds.

To that end, and because a healthy store of young minds and bodies is the best overall insurance any nation can have, September has been proclaimed Youth Month.

The Theater Owners of America, who feel they have a big stake in the welfare of U. S. youth, have undertaken to organize the principal media of information—newspapers, magazines, radio and motion pictures—to publicize the month.

Aside from the publicity to be accorded the problem of juvenile delinquency, which is the immediate purpose of Youth Month, the observance is more deeply significant in that it provides some evidence that Americans are becoming actively conscious that at least partial remedy must be found.

Springboard for Youth Month and any other concerted group action that might obtain is a probing and thoughtful report on juvenile delinquency by the National Conference on Prevention and Control of Juvenile Delinquency, Washington, D. C.

A digest of this report, or series of panel reports, covering basic causes and possible solutions of the problem, is well worth a few hours' study on the part of every parent who is aware of his inevitable failabilities as a guide and leader of his children.

NEW LOW:Bitterness

While American, British and French ambassadors in Moscow were grimly making peace talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov in the Kremlin, general relations between the East and West were sliding to new depths of mutual recrimination.

This state of affairs was not eased any by unsubstantiated reports that the Moscow talks had degenerated into a deadlock and that no progress was being made.

For the most part, however, the animosity was being spread through raucous propaganda by Berlin newspapers, with the publications sponsored by the Russians and the western powers waging a pitched battle of words.

The British-licensed paper Telegraff reported that the Soviets were getting ready to move great numbers of new troops into Germany and that Russia was pressing toward "sole rule over all of Berlin."

Soviet propaganda instruments, meantime, renewed their overall attack on the West, demanding that the Berlin city council be ousted and that the whole city be made part of the Soviet zonal administration.

Regardless of any truth implicit in the Berlin newspaper fight it was obvious that the vindictive battle would do much more harm than good to relations between the two power spheres.

It was equally obvious that there was more bitterness and fear at work in Berlin than there was a rational understanding of how to cope with the crisis.

DRAFT: Questions

This may come as a shock to young future draftees who want the world to know that they are loyal Americans, but just about the only question draft boards will not ask the potential inductee is whether or not he is a Communist and if he is loyal to the U. S.

All the queries in an eight-page questionnaire for draftees deal with the subject's social, economic, physical and marital status.

Concentration of Power

THE concentration of economic power in the hands of a few large industries, which control the manufacture, distribution and price of goods destined for the American people, has been brought sharply to the attention of the public consistently during both the 79th and 80th congresses.

Through the President's midyear economic report and the report of the federal trade commission this condition again has been brought into focus. More than 75 per cent of the total output of 121 basic commodities is manufactured by four firms, the report reveals. Says the federal trade commission:

"No great stretch of the imagination is required to foresee that if nothing is done to check the growth of concentration, either the giant corporations will ultimately take over the country or the government will be impelled to step in and impose some form of direct regulation in the public interest."

Three corporations produce 67 per cent of all farm machinery in this country and particularly in the past three years there has been a sharp upward move in mergers and acquisitions in the product of the farm—meat, food and fiber. These mergers, these acquisitions and the subsequent fixing of prices are made at the expense of small business and the consuming public in the home towns of the country.

Monopoly in Agriculture

On that same subject but generally unknown is the fact that the agricultural industry, farms and farmers, is following in the path set by the big monopolies. For a report of the census bureau only recently published by the department of agriculture shows that the farms of the nation are getting larger in size and fewer in number, accounting generally for the fact that there are several thousand less farmers in the nation today than 10 years ago.

"Today," says the report, "over half the farm land in the country is in farms of over 500 acres. Farms over 1,000 acres now account for 40 per cent of the farm land."

Considering the fact that there are 1.1 billion acres in farms, this means there are approximately 460 million acres in farms of over 1,000 acres. This indicates that the owner-operated farm, although still more desirable, is being crowded, and absentee ownership or corporation or partnership ownership is moving in.

The report shows that even in the midwest, where farms generally are smaller, the average farm has increased 30 acres in 25 years. In Oklahoma, where all farms originally were settled on the 160-acre homestead basis unit, the average farm has increased to 225 acres.

The impact of mechanization, economic pressures, and smaller families has played a part in increasing farm sizes and reducing the number. Another factor is that large food distributing corporations have gone into the field of agriculture and land ownership. Also important is the fact that the census shows that were it not that small 5, 10, and 15 acre tracts, which actually are nothing more than rural residences of urban farmers, still are counted as farms, the percentage of large farms to all farms would be still higher.

The last president of the free republic of Latvia, Carl Ulmanis, was American trained. He lived in Nebraska where he waited in exile and worked for his country's independence. He studied agriculture and when he returned to Latvia in that hopeful heyday of Europe's new republics after World War I, he carried back ideas. One of them was the 4-H clubs.

Latvia was 50 per cent agricultural and among its population of only two million, the 4-H movement grew, adapted of course to its new environment, to 40,000 when I heard of it last before the iron curtain descended.

There were interchanges of visits between the countries and, whenever the big 4-H encampment took place in Washington, the little Latvian legation echoed to the cheerful chatter of American children who drank lemonade and heard the big, smiling man with the expressive ruddy hands, tell of his country and show pictures of the children there at work on their projects or going through their folk dances in the gay costumes of their land.

At the other end of the scale, the products of 5 per cent, or about 300,000 farms, had an average value of more than $10,000 each. Of these large farms, 25,000 had an output valued at $40,000 each and 5,000 farms had production valued at from $10,000 to $1,000,000 each.

Measured in acres the largest farms are in the West and Far West. But measured in value of production they are concentrated in the Corn Belt.

Regulation Impends

The question which agricultural economists now are asking, just as business economists are asking, is: "How long before the government will be impelled to step in and impose some form of direct regulation in the public interest or in the interest of the 3.9 million little farmers?" If the big monopolies continue to raid the agricultural land market at the expense of the small farm and the public, then it may not be long in coming.

Washington DigestGhost of Latvia Recalls Memories of Better Days

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON—At the end of one of those few pleasant summer days which Washington gives us, I was walking homeward from a mission in a part of town which I hadn't visited recently. I found myself in a neighborhood which seemed to produce a slightly nostalgic feeling.

The street took a quick up-turn and, for a short block, was quite steep. Most of the houses were new but there was one with a colored glass window such as graced many a home that I visited as a child. Such windows were usually on the staircase landing, at the turn, and when the sun shone through them it tossed a handful of jewels on the carpet. I always wanted to pick them up. That, I thought as I walked along, is nostalgic childhood memories.

But I was wrong. Soon I realized that the memory which the stained glass window evoked was much more recent. But it did stir ghosts, the ghost of a man and the ghost of a nation, for there is no reason why dead nations, which really never quite died, must not live on in some form.

And Washington is not without such disembodied sovereignities. I had seen the man whose memory had stirred for the first time when he was descending a stairway with just such a window behind him. He was Alfred Bilmanis and he died in July of this year. He was the minister of the republic of Latvia which had "died" eight years ago but according to the state department was and is of such corporeal quality that, along with its sister republics of Lithuania and Estonia, it still possesses diplomatic representatives who are recognized on equal terms with those of living nations.

It was in August of 1940 that the Red army marched into the Baltic states and they became by force majeure, territorially a part of the U. S. S. R.

But the three little democracies were prepared politically, if not diplomatically. A month or so earlier, by due process of parliamentary law, a decree was promulgated which made the Latvian minister to London chief of the Latvian state if the Russians took over her territory. Today Charles Zarena, minister to Britain, remains the head of the diplomatic corps of the republic of Latvia.

Bilmanis continued to serve his ghost-government in the United States after the Russian seizure. Up to then he had helped to keep the bonds firm between us and his little country whose people reached the shores of the Baltic back in the early days of European history, along with the only two other remaining groups which are at least linguistically, if not ethically, related to the Latvians: the Finns and the Magyars.

The last president of the free republic of Latvia, Carl Ulmanis, was American trained. He lived in Nebraska where he waited in exile and worked for his country's independence. He studied agriculture and when he returned to Latvia in that hopeful heyday of Europe's new republics after World War I, he carried back ideas. One of them was the 4-H clubs.

Latvia was 50 per cent agricultural and among its population of only two million, the 4-H movement grew, adapted of course to its new environment, to 40,000 when I heard of it last before the iron curtain descended.

There were interchanges of visits between the countries and, whenever the big 4-H encampment took place in Washington, the little Latvian legation echoed to the cheerful chatter of American children who drank lemonade and heard the big, smiling man with the expressive ruddy hands, tell of his country and show pictures of the children there at work on their projects or going through their folk dances in the gay costumes of their land.

The American kids looked at the paintings that covered the walls—for Bilmanis was quite a collector. They were allowed gingerly to try the great chair which Napoleon had taken back to France from Moscow, examine the delightful little ivories, the china and the other objets d'art which filled the legation.

And then, one by one, they tripped up the stairs to look at the life-size model of the Latvian girl in the traditional robes of the country, wearing the symbolic necklace made of great discs of amber. Amber had been a Latvian article of export since the earliest traders from the Mediterranean made their way to this northern land, for it was a much admired ornament for the ladies of ancient Rome and Greece. A good necklace was supposed to be worth an Arabian mount.

If there is any amber being collected on Latvian beaches today it

PICNIC AT CAMP TONKAWAHamlin's Cub Scouts and Parents Spend Day in Games and Swimming

A day's outing at Camp Tonkawa in Abilene State Park was enjoyed by 25 Hamlin Cub scouts and their parents last Thursday, with J. Cleo Scott, president of the Hamlin Parents' Club, as supervisor.

The group left here early Thursday morning in cars furnished by parents and friends.

They spent the day swimming, playing games and eating picnic lunches, and returned to Hamlin late Thursday evening.

Cub Scouts who made the trip are: Jerry Fred Jay, Dal Johnson, Jackie Drummond, Ralph Bailey, Don Drummond, Paul Wick Joe, Don Smith, George Huling, W. H. Hallmark, Clarence Parker, Davey Weaver.

Let's Forget It, Now

The 1948 political campaign has grown successively bitter as the weeks have dragged slowly by, and now it is wearing to a furious climax as partisans of each senatorial candidate vie in hurling charges at the opponent of their favorite.

People throughout Texas have taken sides and have indulged in that good old American custom of "playing politics". Many men who have been lifetime friends have become cool to each other and have permitted their zeal for their candidate to dampen their friendship for each other verbal charges and challenges have filled the newspapers and the ether waves.

But Saturday will mark the end of this bitterness and strife. After Saturday those who have been partisans will come to once more become only American citizens—citizens who have exercised their American privilege of taking sides.

And with the coming of Saturday the two candidates who have been the focal point of the maelstrom will retire from the limelight and the final result will then rest with the voters of Texas.

And whether you are a supporter of Coke Stevenson or whether you believe in the platform advocated by Lyndon Johnson, it is your duty as well as privilege to go to the polls and vote. It is a sacred duty which Americans should cherish and exercise—to cast their ballot in every election.

So however you plan to vote, don't let anything keep you from going to your polling place Saturday, and within the narrow limits of the booth with only your God and your conscience to look on, cast your ballot for the man of your choice.

And when you have done that, like all good Americans you will let the fires of passion that have been kindled by partisan politics cool, and you will accept the choice of the majority.

After we have voted let's forget the bitterness that has been engendered and let's all devote ourselves to the single purpose of creating a better Texas and a better America for ourselves and our posterity.

Why does it take a diplomat so long to learn the facts of life? While official Washington has been stumbling along, holding conferences and sending notes to the Soviet Union the common people of America have known for years that Stalin could not be trusted.

DR. HOUSE RETURNS

Dr. Will C. House, who has been on vacation for the past two weeks, will return to Hamlin this week and will preach at both services in the First Methodist Church Sunday, members of the congregation have announced.

Hamlin Can Do It

Despite the fact that Hamlin is not a metropolis, and despite the fact that its available civic capital is limited, the people of our town have demonstrated again and again their ability to cooperate and to promote projects that would do credit to cities many times the size of ours.

Hamlin has built a hospital that is equal to any of comparable size in any city; it has acquired a fine football stadium; it has repeatedly put over projects that would stagger towns of far greater population.

And Hamlin can promote and build a community swimming pool that would afford the young people of our city a means for clean, wholesome recreation at home. There is no good reason why Hamlin cannot offer its young people the entertainment for which they now drive many miles.

There is no finer sport than swimming, and there could be no better way for Hamlin to invest some money than in the construction of a modern pool.

The task of raising funds for this purpose would not be too great. If some organization in our town would take the lead The Herald believes it could be done in a short time.

Let's think it over and provide the young men and women of Hamlin the facilities for recreation which have been denied them far too long.

A Heavy Harvest

News stories tell of the post-war crime wave that is sweeping our country, and leaders of churches, schools and government have shown alarm over the situation.

But what else can be expected as an aftermath of an era when young men were nurtured in a lust for blood and when hatred was drilled into the hearts of all of us? Hatred is a virus so deadly that only violence and bloodshed and crime can result from it. The inescapable harvest of the seed of hatred is vice and sin, and at the root of all hatred is incipient murder.

It was truly said many years ago that "Whosoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

You are the only indispensable man in all the world! And even you are indispensable to no one but yourself.

Rep. Burleson Will Visit in Switzerland

Rep. Omar Burleson of Anson has announced that he will go to Caux, Switzerland about September 15, where he will attend conference of religious leaders and statesmen.

Purpose of the conference is to attempt to further the cause of world peace, Rep. Burleson said.

He will return about the middle of October.

THE RIFLE

By DANIEL F. LINDSAY

ONLY $30." The clerk smiled down at Jud as he handed him the rifle.

"Uh." Jud hesitated for a moment as his trembling fingers ran along the dull barrel. "I haven't got that much."

"Sorry son." He took it back. Jud's wistful eyes followed him as he sat it in the rack and hurried down the counter. Thirty dollars! He had a sick feeling as he stumbled out of the store. Why, he'd never even had his hands on that much money. As he walked down the street he swung the bag of salt from hand to hand. If a rifle cost that much, think how much that house must have cost. Enough to buy all the rifles in the world.

Reaching the edge of town he started up the twisted mountain road. Unconsciously his bare calloused feet avoided the blistering hot rocks. Any other day he would have walked close to the jagged cut formed by the road. Today he didn't care about the cool shade. His mind was still back at the little store. Maybe his Pa would get it anyway. The thought made him half run. As he rounded the curve he could see his mother waiting for him in the doorway.

"You sure made a quick trip, Jud. What you so excited about?" "I got to talk to Pa." He handed her the bag of salt and went inside for a drink of water. She followed him with amused eyes.

"What about son?" He hung the cup back on its hook and shook his head. "Man talk, mom."

"Oh, I see," she ducked her head. "Well, he's out in the upper pasture." He rushed outside again.

"Pa," he shouted as he reached the edge of the tree ringed field. "It's down at the store."

"What's down at the store, son?" His eyes were affectionate as he watched Jud gallop toward him. "The end of the world done up in pink ribbons?"

"No, Pa." His young face was serious as he slid to a stop. "My rifle. The one I want."

"Oh?" Pa looked away uncomfortably. "You sure it's the one you want?" How he had dreaded this day. All winter long they had talked of guns, particularly the one Jud would get some day. Each time they went to the store Jud would rush eagerly over to the shiny gun case, but they never suited him. Gradually it had reached the "maybe, someday" stage. Pa had been glad.

"Sure Pa, I went down for a bag of salt and there it was." His eyes were shining. "You ought to see it."

Dressed your Pa wants to talk to you."

"All right." He hurried into his pants and shirt. At least he would know for sure. His father smiled as he entered.

"Good morning Jud."

"Morning Pa." His eyes searched his father's face for a sign.

"Your mom and I talked about the rifle last night, son." Jud just stood there. "And we don't think we can spare the money right now."

"Okay, Pa," his face fell. "$30 is a lot of money."

"But," his father continued, "we did think of a way you could get the rifle if you wanted it bad enough."

"Oh, I do, Pa." His face was one broad smile. "I want it more than anything in the world."

"Enough to sell your sheep?"

JUD pushed open the screen door and walked outside without answering. His mother and father exchanged glances and went on with their breakfast.

Once away from the house, Jud hurried to the little pen. The sheep hobbled over to his side. He slipped one arm around Pete's neck and his mind went back to the day he had crawled down into the ravine in search of him. He stood there a long time while a chain of memories passed over him. Finally he wiped a tear on his shirt sleeve and went back inside the house.

"I want the rifle, Pa." He held his sturdy little body stiff.

"All right son. It's up to you."

His father got to his feet and went outside. Jud sat down at the table, swallowing the lump in his throat. His mother filled his plate with pancakes. He didn't even know they were there. Through the screen door he could hear his sheep being loaded into the battered old truck. A rifle was better anyway. When his father tooted the horn he got up solemn faced and kissed his mother.

All the way to town he kept his eyes away from the back of the truck. Just as they came to the slaughter house he could stand it no longer. "Pa," he burst out, "They won't hurt long, will they?"

"No, son," his father's eyes shone kindly. "They'll never know what happened."

"All right." He stared out of the window while his father sold them. When the man took them away he swallowed hard, then shook his head. His father handed him the money and they drove off.

"Want me to come in too, son?" Pa smiled as they came to the store. Jud shook his head and hurried up the rickety steps. Half a minute later he came back out wearing a proud smile.

"Say, Jud, that's some iron." His shoulders, I've got them."

"Son," his mother came in from the kitchen, "As soon as you're father put the box of shells on the seat between them. "Why, it's even be'ter mine."

"It sure is a beaut, Pa." He held it upright between his legs all the way home.

All afternoon they could hear the crack of the new rifle echoing down the range. Then toward evening there was a long period of silence. When they called him for supper he pushed open the screen door and shuffled inside. His sigh was heavy. Pa looked up with an understanding smile.

"Regret your bargain, son?"

"No," he shook his head, "but I miss my lame 'uns."

"I know, son. Growing up is tough."

"Yes, Pa." He ran his fingers along the dull barrel. He tried hard not to think about Pete, Blackie and Joe.

"Oh, I do, Pa." His face was one broad smile. "I want it more than anything in the world."

JIVIN' YOUR JEANS

There's an epidemic of blue jeans parties sweeping through teen-dom. Maybe it's just a reaction to all this "new look" dressing up that's been going on. Even though the new name for a jeans party is a "bums rush," you usually turn up looking pretty elegant—even in jeans. Here are some of the ways you dress them up to the occasion.

SISSY STUFF—One way to feminize your jeans is to cut them off, pedal-pusher length, and edge them with eyelet ruffling. Ditto around the neckline of your tuck-in sweater. No, Elmer—the farmer's daughter never looked like this!

CLIPPED ACCENTS—You'll attract attention (and imitation, too) if you roll up your jeans and hold them in place with clip clothes pins. As a formal touch, paint your clothes pins with red polish and, while it's still moist, sprinkle some sequins on them.

WASP WAISTED—That's how you'll look if you bind your ornate silk scarf, cummerbund fashion around your waistline at the next jeans jamboree. A matching scarf tied around your head piece, with long ends hanging gypsy style at one side. Now, all you need is a golden earring—or, maybe, Ray Milland.

GOLD PLATED—For a really new look, gild your jeans with a gold kid belt; wrap fake gold chains around your neck and dive for the oyster in gold kid bracelets or sandals. A coat of gilt paint will transform last year's black balloons, in case you've squandered your allowance on maldeds and bubble gum.

Try out any of these tricks at the next bums' rush and the only thing blue about your jeans will be the color—see?

Except for this haunting thought . . .

Kathleen Norris Says:

Peace of Mind Is a Valuable Asset

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

"My mother died when I was eight. My father, a gambler and adventurer, brought me up."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

THE problem of Leona Matson is unusual. That is, it is unusual to find a happy successful professional woman, a wife and mother, with so serious a burden of compunction and remorse to carry.

This is a part of her letter:

"At 20, and until I was 26, I was fortunate enough to be a secretary to an elderly Hollywood writer, stole a large sum of money from her employer. She justified the theft by convincing herself that she was only temporarily borrowing the money. Furthermore, she reasoned, if she had asked for a loan she was certain that her employer would have granted it.

"One morning a large check came in. Annie, to call her that, had told me it would be for $2,000 but it was for more than twice that much. Without calling her attention to it, I placed it face down for her to endorse in blank. She did not turn it over and I deposited it in my account, transferring to hers only the $2,000 she had expected.

"My mother died when I was eight. My father, a gambler and adventurer, brought me up. I always had resented the advantages other girls had and always had felt myself underprivileged.

"This is no excuse for what I did, but the fact is that I did. I told myself that I was only borrowing the money, that Annie would have let me have it if I had asked her for it.

"I know now that she really would have loaned it, but I was young and bitter and demoralized by talk of trips, pearls, salaries, luxuries enjoyed by girls no older than myself. A few months after my theft, I called to her, I left Annie to her regret, and went east to study for my own work.

Success and Happiness.

"It was three years later and I was close to 30 when success came. With it came love and a happy marriage. For two years Tony and I had a Boston studio and then we came back to Hollywood. We were joined a few years later by two wonderful children. We work separately and together. Mine is a happy story, except for this haunting thought of what I did 10 years ago.

"Annie is still here, but old and impoverished now. She resents my having left her and when I went to see her, in a home, she was still hurt and unfriendly. I know she could use the money that is rightfully hers, but I cannot face—I cannot even consider—telling the truth, facing Tony's horror and disillusionment and Annie's anger, even if no one else in the world ever knew. It occurred to me that if I had my old account books I could pretend that I had discovered an old error, but they are long destroyed. Do you know of any way in which I can safely make this old wrong right?"

Renew Her Friendship.

"It was three years later and I was close to 30 when success came. With it came love and a happy marriage. For two years Tony and I had a Boston studio and then we came back to Hollywood. We were joined a few years later by two wonderful children. We work separately and together. Mine is a happy story, except for this haunting thought of what I did 10 years ago.

"Annie is still here, but old and impoverished now. She resents my having left her and when I went to see her, in a home, she was still hurt and unfriendly. I know she could use the money that is rightfully hers, but I cannot face—I cannot even consider—telling the truth, facing Tony's horror and disillusionment and Annie's anger, even if no one else in the world ever knew. It occurred to me that if I had my old account books I could pretend that I had discovered an old error, but they are long destroyed. Do you know of any way in which I can safely make this old wrong right?"

To this terrible question there is no easy answer.

The law would say that Leona must face the result of her crime, for theft is a serious crime. Many a good and weak man is spending long years in prison for a moment's weakness less grave than this.

Renew Her Friendship.

But since I am not the law, I am going to recommend an easier way.

My advice to Leona would be that she re-establish the old friendship with the woman she calls Annie. Wear down her resentment and coldness with affectionate visits and little presents. Annie is old, lonely, defeated and dependent, remember-

RESTITUTION

Often times when we are young, restless and ambitious we regard a transgression of the law very lightly. We save our conscience with soft talk, hoping that everything eventually will turn out all right. But in most cases it doesn't.

Leona Matson, while in the employment of a Hollywood writer, stole a large sum of money from her employer. She justified the theft by convincing herself that she was only temporarily borrowing the money. Furthermore, she reasoned, if she had asked for a loan she was certain that her employer would have granted it.

Years passed, Leona achieved success financially as well as maritally but she still hadn't restored the stolen money. Now the thought of the theft bothers her and she desires to make restitution without her husband's or her former employer's knowledge.

Miss Norris suggests that Leona re-establish her friendship with her ex-employer, who is now in a home for the aged, cultivate her friendship and win her affection with visits and gifts.

Leona can have her ex-boss moved to a quiet hotel where she will have more comfort and conveniences. After Leona has made an honest effort to assist the aged lady, she should make a complete confession and restoration of her past defalcation.

In this manner Leona will regain peace of mind and make full restitution for her shameful sin of the past.

ing the happy, busy, successful years that are gone forever.

Perhaps you can place her in some quiet hotel where she will feel her pride and independence still preserved. Then some day make a full confession of your old sin. I don't know Annie, but I know her type, and I believe she will be as generous in this as she always has been generous in everything.

In doing this you have the chance for which so many of us long, when years have brought us a better sense of values and of our own personal moral responsibility in the big scheme of things. It doesn't come to every one, so make the most of it.

If some day Annie is happy with her own pleasant room and bath, a scrap of garden and a little money on which to draw, it will be your privilege to make that happiness complete by telling her honestly that everything you do for her is only interest upon the old and shameful debt.

Leona may have to sacrifice some of her self-pride when she makes the confession to Annie but the inherent glow of righteous satisfaction she will receive as the result of clearing her conscience will more than compensate for her discomfiture.

One of the things we learn with years is that moral law is not constructed by grim-jawed old puritans, merely to annoy and hamper us. Peace of mind is the most valuable thing in the world and obedience to the law when one is young, restless, unsatisfied and ambitious is the only road to peace of mind later on.

More Money Spent During 1948

Americans during 1948 are buying houses and automobiles faster than they can be produced and indebtedness is increasing, according to the Federal Reserve Board's 1948 survey of consumer finances.

Fewer folk are saving in 1948 than the year previous. Some 3 million consumers who had savings bonds in 1947 didn't have them the first of 1948. Consumers are doing more of their paying on a credit basis than a year ago. Because buying has increased, they're using more of their savings than before.

It is expected that about one-fourth of the consumers will spend beyond their income in 1948 as they did in 1947.

The most downright dependable car you ever drove!

A quarter-million KAISER and FRAZER owners have pretty much the same story to tell about their cars' rugged, day-in-day-out, downright, all-round dependability. Because the KAISER and the FRAZER are the only new cars built since the war that have been road-proved dependable in over 2-billion miles of owner driving, under all conditions, in all parts of the country. So if you want to know the truth, ask those who know best—the man or woman behind the wheel of a KAISER or a FRAZER. They are our best salesmen.

Hamlin Births

Mrs. Charles Scott of Sylvester will give a book review for members of the Nazarene Young People's Society in the Hamlin Nazarene Church Sunday evening.

The program will begin at 7:15 o'clock and the public is invited to attend the review.

ATTENTION FUNERAL

Mrs. J. C. Culbertson, Joe Culbertson and Miss Vera Culbertson went to Waxahachie Tuesday, to attend the funeral of a relative. They returned to Hamlin after the funeral Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Harkins, Mr. and Mrs. Ike Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Packwood, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Strain, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Godwin, Mr. Vivian Marshall, Mrs. B. W. Neidecken and Mrs. Mayme Deel.

Guests were Mrs. Sally Cothren and Mrs. Beulah Gallant. The next meeting will be held Sept. 11.

Mrs. Harrell Hostess To Four Square Group

Rev. Alice Harrell was hostess to members of the Four Square Home Missionary Society in her home Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Zada Garrett gave the opening prayer and Mrs. Leona Hudson conducted roll call. After a song was led by Mrs. R. C. Garrett the devotion was given by Mrs. Leona Hudson.

Mrs. C. N. Dicks was taken into the organization as a new member.

The afternoon was spent in piecing quilt blocks for the parsonage. Refreshments were served to: Mmes. C. N. Dicks, Dorothy Jones, Zada Garrett, Linda Scott, Jessie Kelly, R. C. Garrett and daughter, Beverly K., Mrs. Susie Tabb, Rev. Alice Harrell and Mrs. Leona Hudson.

The society will meet in the home of Mrs. Hattie Harwick Monday, August 30 at 2:00 o'clock, when Secret Pals day will be observed.

THANK YOU, FRIENDS

I have sold my dress and gift shop in Hamlin, and take this method of expressing my deep gratitude to the many friends who were such loyal customers of my place.

My residence in Hamlin has been a pleasant one, and it is with regret that I am leaving.

I hope that you will give to my successors the same loyalty and friendship which you gave me.

Sincerely,
MRS. GROVER C. CARTER

New Way to Construct An Old-Fashioned Swing

DO YOU want to bring back happy moments you've long since forgotten? For fun in the sun or a pleasant place to spent a quiet period of relaxation under the stars, we recommend this modernized version of an old fashioned lawn swing. It's a hit with grownups as well as children. There's room for four in the form fitting seats.

The lawn swing is easy to build. No special tools or skill are required. The full size pattern offered below provides all the information needed to buy the materials, cut and assemble the swing. All materials specified are stock size and are easily available at most lumber yards.

It's as easy as that. The pattern provides a full size, printed paper outline of each component part of the swing. Trace each piece on the lumber specified, saw and assemble. Wherever two pieces are joined, the exact location is shown on the pattern. All bolt and screw holes are also shown. You'll have fun building this swing and lots more fun using it.

Send 50¢ for lawn swing pattern No. 155 to East-Bild Pattern Co., Dept. W., Pleasantville, N. Y.

Do female functional periodic disturbances make you suffer pain, feel so nervous, irritable—at such times? Then try Lydia E. Pinkham's TABLETS to relieve such symptoms. Pinkham's Tablets are also very effective to help build up red blood in simple anemia.

Lydia E. Pinkham's TABLETS

Kidneys Must Work Well-

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping. Kidneys filter what's matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess wastes and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to the body, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urinations sometimes mean that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at nights, swelling.

Why not try DOAN'S PILLS? You will be doing a great service to your kidneys by helping them to function. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

HOT FLUSHES?

Does the functional "middle-age" period peculiar to women (38-52 yrs.) make you suffer from hot flushes, feel so nervous, high-strung, irritable, weak? Then no try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. It's famous for this!

Taken regularly—Pinkham's Compound helps build up resistance against such "middle-age" distress. It's what Doctors call a uterine sedative. It positively contains no opiates—no habit-forming drugs. Pinkham's Compound helps nature (you know what we mean). It's also a great stomachic tonic! Any druggist.

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designs the kidneys to do a mighty task. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood. This is its main task.

If the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nausea, constipation, frequent urination, lack of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feet tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are further evidence of kidney and bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess pressure. This is the Tea Pill. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Inside on Don's. Sold at all drug stores.

Rites Sunday in Wichita Falls for Former Resident

Funeral services were conducted Sunday at 4 p.m. in Wichita Falls for W. C. Winfield Lucore, 87, former Hamlin resident, who died in the Wichita Falls General Hospital Friday afternoon.

Lucore made his home in Hamlin for several years, and after he moved from there was a frequent visitor in this city. He was a brother-in-law of G. B. Howington and an uncle of Mrs. Frank Tucker and Mrs. W. D. Adair.

Burial of Lucore was made in Abilene in the Masonic cemetery by the side of his wife's grave. Brief graveside services were conducted at 11 o'clock Monday morning.

Guy Hart and Tommy Hart of Lubbock are guests this week of their grandmother, Mrs. Lola Hart in Hamlin.

Miss Peggy Wainscott has returned to her job in the Waggoner Drug Store after a vacation spent in Dallas, Fort Worth and Waco.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Gardner and son spent the weekend in Sherman as guests of relatives.

Market Prices in Dip During Week, USDA Report Says

Cotton, grains and livestock showed lower trends this week at Southwest markets, according to the reports to The Herald from the Production and Marketing Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Pet Etheridge was admitted to the hospital Thursday August 29, for treatment.

Billy York, who had been a patient in the Hamlin Memorial Hospital for 34 days (suffering from a serious head injury), was dismissed Friday, August 20, and returned to his home in Roaring Springs.

Milton Smith, who was admitted for medical treatment Saturday, August 21, was dismissed Sunday, August 22.

Miss Joy Agnew was admitted for medical treatment Sunday, August 22.

Miss Melba Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Turner, underwent a tonsilectomy Monday and was dismissed Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Wilson and son, Randy, of Anson, were guests of Mrs. M. Y. Wilson Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Simpkins of Rule were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Smith last Friday evening.

THE HERALD can get those rub-wheat four for the week. Milo fell 10 to 15 cents a hundred pounds. Most feedstuffs sold unchanged to lower although wheat millfeeds sowed further strength. Top grades of hay were in good demand, but wet weather lowered quality in many areas.

Cotton netted losses of around $3 a bale for the seven day period. Spot middling 15-16 inch closed on Monday at 30.30 cents a pound at Dallas, 30.50 at New Orleans, and 30.55 at Houston.

Make these 4 comparisons before you buy any car

COMPARE THE VALUE

Yes, compare the features—compare the prices—compare what you get for what you pay—and you, too, will come to the conclusion that Chevrolet continues to be first in value, just as it continues to be first in Big-Car Quality at Lowest Cost, and just as it continues first in demand, year after year.

COMPARE THE POPULARITY

You can identify the biggest value in any list of products by picking out the one product which enjoys greatest popularity, year after year; and, of course, in the field of motor cars, that one product is Chevrolet—outstanding leader in popularity for the total 17-year period, 1931 to date!

COMPARE THE PRICES

You'll agree with millions of other car buyers that prices—like quality—are a major consideration in these times; and just as Chevrolet's Big-Car quality is unique in its price range, so Chevrolet prices are the lowest in its field. Chevrolet costs less to buy, to run and to maintain!

Only Chevrolet gives BIG-CAR

Bobby Has a Reputation

No one can pay a tribute to Richmond Country club, that we don't double and redouble, no matter what the game.

"A knockout punch doesn't hurt."

Armour said. "You can take a hammering now and then that won't help you, but it is only physical.

Soon over. Football is the same.

Few football players even feel pain when in play. They don't know they are hurt until later. I'll bet most of them suffer more from nerves—

and I don't mean nerve—from than getting hurt physically.

"But football isn't as tough as golf and I think Joe Louis will tell you the same about the fight game.

I'll bet Louis has suffered more in a number of golf matches than he ever suffered in the ring. Why?

Nerves.

"I don't think Louis ever suffered anything from nerves in a fight in his life. But I can promise plenty that he's taken quite a beating in nerves at golf. Louis doesn't mind a pretty fair bet. And he's quite a good golfer. But some of these boys in golf are hard to take."

"The punishment you take in golf on an off day or through a tournament is the worst you get in any game. Did you ever get 'the yips'?

The 'yips' are nerves that blow up in your wrists when you are playing chip shots or putting. The nerves simply explode and you can do nothing about it. You can ask

Walter Hagen or Bobby Jones,

two great putters.

"I recall a $10,000 tournament I played in. I had a good lead through the first three rounds. Then I got the 'yips'.

I three-putted eight greens. I missed seven putts from two to three feet out. I figured each one of these putts cost me $300.

"I would rather have been knocked down six times by Dempsey or Louis. I would rather have been run over by Bronko Nagurski.

I took more punishment in the last round than any fighter ever took in a ring.

Nerves Prevent Sleep

"Bobby Jones won 13 national titles. But I'd like to bet no one ever took more nerve punishment.

It took him seven years to win his first championship. He couldn't sleep at night or keep food on his stomach on numerous occasions.

Jock Hutchison couldn't eat or sleep through an open. Neither could I.

I don't think Hagen ever bothered too much about anything."

I recall one occasion in an amateur golf championship, one of the entries was an all-star college tackle—around 220 pounds. He was a good golfer and he lasted through Wednesday. But he collapsed on Thursday and just missed the hosital. His nervous system blew up.

He was in a bad way. He never played in another tournament.

The roughest part of golf is that every mistake you make is your own. No opponent has anything directly to do with it.

He can't hit one by you, block

you, tackle you or knock you out. He can't do anything to you. You inflict your own punishment.

Golf was first called "an 'umblin' game" by George Low over 30 years ago. It is also an infuriating game at times. When Jerry Travers, a great competitor, won his U.S. Open at Baltusrol in 1915, he was a nervous wreck for over two weeks afterwards. And Travers had just about as fine a set of nerves as I've ever seen.

QUESTION: I have bronze screens that have been discolored

because someone rubbed yellow soap all over them. This has made them green. I have tried to clean them by washing them and also used kerosene, but this has not helped. I would appreciate any suggestions.

ANSWER: I believe wiping the screens with a cloth dampened with ammonia would take off the green discoloration. Be careful of ammonia fumes. If this fails, try a good metal polish. An alternative would be to wash with ordinary

POT-SHOTS FROM McCaulley

GEORGE DARDEN

Large crowds are attending the Methodist meeting which began last Friday night and will last through this week.

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Hunter and daughters from Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hunter from Fort Worth visited last week in the home of their sister and brother, Miss Ruth, and Melvin O. D. handed us a years' subscription to The Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Darden and children from Lubbock visited last

More Than 100 Lions, Guests Attend Party

More than 100 members of the Hamlin Lions Club, their ladies, and guests attended the annual Ladies' Night meeting of the local club on the lawn of the home of Stanley Carmichael Tuesday evening.

A fried chicken dinner was served and an interesting program was presented by a group of Lions from Abilene.

Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Darden.

After reading the editorial in last weeks' issue of The Herald pertaining to the Gallup and Belden Polls we still have ideas of our own and glad the new editor has his own ideas and expresses them frankly. And too, the correspondent is still for Lyndon Johnson even after reading Sundays' polls in daily newspapers.

A. M. (Buddy) Eivens ginned the first oil for 1948 in McCaulley last Monday, August 23.

Miss Mildred Mason returned to her home in Chicago last week after several weeks visit with mother and sister in McCaulley.

Reports from farmers is that this years crop has been cut at least 40 per cent production in this vicinity within the last 15 days due to extremely hot and dry weather.

See where our friend Harry Holt of the "Chousin' Around" column of the Abilene Reporter-News is back on the job after several weeks siege of the mumps.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fancher visited their daughter and family and other relatives in the Lubbock vicinity last week-end.

The Stamps Ozark Quartet will appear in person September 6, 8:30 p. m. at the McCaulley High School.

Rev. C. E. Dick, for many years pastor of the McCaulley Baptist Church and who for past few months has been quite ill and had two major operations in Baylor hospital in Dallas in recent months, has announced that he plans to preach his last sermon as pastor of this church the first Sunday of September. Due to ill health Rev. Dick will likely retire as a pastor but may continue in the ministry so long as his health will permit. For 17 years Rev. Dick was pastor of the Baptist Church in McCaulley and has made many friends.

McCaulley school will open its fall term September 13. More than 200 students will enroll the first day, it is believed, and more are expected to enroll at a later date.

The new well on the Nickless farm, an offset to the W. F. Davidson well, spudded in last Thursday. Three locations have been staked within two miles of town and once again we will keep our ears to the ground and report everything that comes via the grapevine pertaining to oil, gas and hot air.

First Lt. Joe W. (Buddy) Boyd, killed in Germany in the last war, arrived last week in New York, New York with other West Texas boys who were killed in service. Lt. Boyd known to McCaulley neighbors as Buddy, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Boyd of McCaulley. His body will arrive within a few days and funeral notices will follow later.

Miss Joe Ann Hendon of Rotan spent last weekend in the homes of Miss Velma Lou Boyd and Margaret Darden.

New items are scarce this week due to the fact that the reporter has been busy at many other jobs.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gallaway Jr., and sons from Ralls, visited relatives here over the week-end.

Catch em on Return Trip.
A tourist traveling through Western Kansas saw a man sitting by the ruins of a house that had been blown away, and stopped to ask: "Was this your house, my friend?" "Yes."

"Any of your family blown away with the house?" "Yes, wife and four children."

"Great Scott, man, why aren't you hunting for them?" "Well, stranger, I've been in this country quite a spell. The wind's due to change this afternoon. So I figure I might as well wait here till it brings 'em back."

"Lubri-tection!"

I'll Know You're Talking About
The Product That Makes Me Proud—
Phillips 66 Premium Motor Oil!

Man this "Lubri-tection" is something to boast about!

It means the two things you get with Phillips 66 Premium—lubrication plus protection! Here's a motor oil with all the great lubricating qualities you just naturally get from fine base stocks and expert refining, plus additives and inhibitors that protect by helping to lick sludge, carbon and varnish deposits.

That's a lot in one quart of oil but Phillips 66 Premium's got it! Why don't you switch to "Lubri-tection" today!
